Analysis of Creationism in the United States from Scopes (1925) to Kitzmiller (2005) and its Effect on the Nation's Science Education System Elizabeth Watts, 2018 Creationism is based on a fundamental belief in the inerrancy of the bible and negatively affects science education because creationist proponents insist on the inclusion of supernatural explanations for the appearance of species in particular the origin of humans This detrimental effect on education is particularly relevant in the United States where almost 70% of the population rejects the idea of naturalistic evolution and the majority of American students struggle to meet the college readiness benchmarks in science and math This dissertation provides a comprehensive look at the issue from historical judicial and educational perspectives Twenty four legal cases in the United States regarding anti evolutionary strategies were analyzed in detail Strategic trends were identified ranging from the statewide banning of evolution in public schools to the required teaching of Creation Science The exact effect of creationist political activity was discerned through the analysis of state science standards and textbook adoption processes which illustrated the creationists ability to lobby for a diminished coverage of evolution in science standards and textbooks It was found that despite attempts made by scientific and educational agencies to provide guidelines such as the Next Generation Science Standards the majority of American state science standards continue to be sub par and one of the major flaws of these standards is the overall attempt to weaken the coverage of evolution throughout the standards A similar loss of quality occurs in textbooks since publishers engage in self censorship in order to avoid controversial topics such as evolution in order to prevent their books from being rejected An examination of the free choice learning materials revealed that creationist proponents are very active and successful in producing books films and museums for the sole purpose of promoting creationism Moreover a brief look at the creationist movement in Germany provided a powerful comparison to the United States and elucidated the key components necessary for a creationist movement to exist and flourish namely the presence of fundamentalist willing to fight to get anti evolutionary materials introduced into science classrooms This study provides new insights into the creationist phenomenon present not only in the United States but also increasingly present in European countries such as Germany Understanding the detrimental link between creationism and science education will help the science community realize that this topic needs to be continually readdressed and that it is imperative that these creationist trends are not dismissed as inconsequential

Towards an embodied science of intersubjectivity: Widening the scope of social understanding research Ezequiel Di Paolo, Hanne De Jaegher, 2015-06-16 An important amount of research effort in psychology and neuroscience over the past decades has focused on the problem of social cognition This problem is understood as how we figure out other minds relying only on indirect manifestations of other people s intentional states which are assumed to be hidden private and internal Research on this question has mostly investigated how individual cognitive mechanisms achieve this task A shift in the internalist assumptions regarding intentional states has expanded the research focus with hypotheses that explore the role of interactive phenomena and interpersonal histories and their implications for understanding individual cognitive processes This interactive expansion of the conceptual and methodological toolkit for investigating social cognition we now propose can be followed by an expansion into wider and deeply related research questions beyond but including that of social cognition narrowly construed Our social lives are populated by different kinds of cognitive and affective phenomena that are related to but not exhausted by the question of how we figure out other minds These phenomena include acting and perceiving together verbal and non verbal engagement experiences of dis connection management of relations in a group joint meaning making intimacy trust conflict negotiation asymmetric relations material mediation of social interaction collective action contextual engagement with socio cultural norms structures and roles etc These phenomena are often characterized by a strong participation by the cognitive agent in contrast with the spectatorial stance typical of social cognition research We use the broader notion of embodied intersubjectivity to refer to this wider set of phenomena This Research Topic aims to investigate relations between these different issues to help lay strong foundations for a science of intersubjectivity the social mind writ large To contribute to this goal we encouraged contributions in psychology neuroscience psychopathology philosophy and cognitive science that address this wider scope of intersubjectivity by extending the range of explanatory factors from purely individual to interactive from observational to participatory Educating Science Teachers for Sustainability Susan K. Stratton, Rita Hagevik, Allan Feldman, Mark Bloom, 2015-06-18 This volume contains a unique compilation of research and reflections representing multiple vantage points stemming from different parts of the world that can help science educators and teacher educators in finding ways to meaningfully and purposefully embed sustainability into teaching and learning It is a rich resource for exploring and contextualizing sustainability oriented science education At this time we find ourselves in a situation in which the earth s ecological system is under significant strain as a result of human activity In the developed world people are asking How can we maintain our current standard of living while those in the developing world are asking How can we increase the quality of our lives all while trying to do what is necessary to mitigate the environmental problems This volume responds to these questions with a focus on educating for sustainability including historical and philosophical analyses and pedagogical and practical applications in the context of science teacher preparation Included are many examples of ways to educate science teachers for sustainability from authors across the globe This text argues that issues of sustainability are increasingly important to our natural world built world national and international economics and of course the political world The ideas presented in the book provide examples for original effective and necessary changes for envisioning educating science teachers for sustainability that will inform policy makers Fake Evidence Ron Milliner, 2019-09-10 Fake Evidence examines the scientific evidence offered in evolution creation court cases from the State of Tennessee v John Thomas Scopes in 1925 to Kitzmiller v Dover Area School District in 2005 The validity of the different types of evidence is tested against the current ideas in the scientific literature Much of the evidence offered in the past would not be offered in such a case if held today The first chapter of the book looks at court evidence in light of the nature of science Court cases have been decided based on fingerprints handwriting samples DNA etc only to be overturned later Why are evolution cases allowed to stand when the evidence used in the trial is no longer valid The State of Tennessee v John Thomas Scopes is the first evolution creation case It is discussed in chapter two Because of its well known attorneys Clarence Darrow and William Jennings Bryan it attracted national attention In this trial a hoax like the Piltdown Man was offered as evidence for the proof of evolution Chapter three moves ahead to the 1960s and considers Epperson v Arkansas that declared laws forbidding the teaching of evolution as unconstitutional This case is also considered in light of two other court cases decided that decade Engel v Vitale that removed state initiated prayers in the classroom and Abington School District v Schempp that ruled against a daily Bible reading in school How were these cases similar Since evolution had to be taught efforts were made to have evolution and creation taught side by side These efforts brought about two court cases McLean v Arkansas Board of Education and Edwards v Aguillard McLean v Arkansas Board of Education dealt with an Arkansas law and was decided in the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Arkansas and was limited to that region Edwards v Aguillard was a similar law passed in Louisiana which was appealed all the way to the United States Supreme Court The justices declared the teaching of scientific creationism was religious teaching and thus unconstitutional The final case that is examined in this work is Kitzmiller v Dover Area School District The school board in Dover Pennsylvania wanted to see its students become aware of intelligent design A good deal of this case centered on showing that intelligent design is religious teaching so that the judge could rule against it based on the earlier court cases against a religious view being taught in public schools Fake Evidence closes with a look at some of the view expressed against religion in Kitzmiller v Dover Area School District and the dangers found in those views The book also contains several appendices including one on The Fruits of Evolution How Pop Culture Shapes the Stages of a Woman's Life Melissa Ames, Sarah Burcon, 2016-03-15
