Scope Scholastic February 2015:

Star Observer Magazine February 2015 Elias Jahshan, 2015-01-14 Trouble Every Day Kate Robertson, 2021-06-15

Transgressive both in its narrative and in its filmmaking Trouble Every Day 2001 envisions the monster inside unspeakable urges and an overwhelming need for complete incorporation A plant discovered in the South American jungle produces in its test subjects a terrible unnatural and uncontrollable hunger Vicious all consuming desire begets excessive violence and a turn to cannibalism which situates Trouble Every Day into a tradition of challenging cinema a film maudit that pushes the boundaries of what can be shown on screen But while it is certainly an unflinching film it is deserving of reassessment as part of Clare Denis filmography as well as a broader cinematic lineage Focusing on close textual analysis this book delves into the surfeit of visual literary and non fiction references that shape Trouble Every Day while thwarting attempts to firmly situate it It considers its place in a lineage of films that push the boundary of taste and representation aligned as much with Un Chien andalou 1929 as the New French Extremity It also considers the film's relationship to such sub genres as classic monster movies video nasties mad science gothic vampire body horror and Italo exploitation cannibal films and directors such as Abel Ferrara Brian de Palma Jean Renoir and Jacques Tourneau Drawing on a range of disciplines including art philosophy and phenomenology this study explores how Trouble Every Day elicits a visceral response to a cinematic experience that beguiles and violates Technology and the Making of Experimental Film Culture John Powers, 2023

The Bolex camera 16mm reversal film stocks commercial film laboratories and low budget optical printers were the small gauge media technologies that provided the infrastructure for experimental filmmaking at the height of its cultural impact Technology and the Making of Experimental Film Culture examines how the avant garde embraced these material resources and invested them with meanings and values adjacent to those of semiprofessional film culture By reasserting the physicality of the body in making time lapse and kinesthetic sequences with the Bolex filmmakers conversed with other art forms and integrated broader spheres of humanistic and scientific inquiry into their artistic process Drawing from the photographic qualities of stocks such as Tri X and Kodachrome they discovered pliant metaphors that allowed them to connect their artistic practice to metaphysics spiritualism and Hollywood excess By framing film labs as mystical or adversarial they cultivated an oppositionality that valorized control over the artistic process And by using the optical printer as a tool for excavating latent meaning out of found footage they posited the reworking of images as fundamental to the exploration of personal and cultural identity Providing a wealth of new detail about the making of canonized avant garde classics by such luminaries as Carolee Schneemann Jack Smith and Stan Brakhage as well as rediscovering works from overlooked artists such as Chick Strand Amy Halpern and Gunvor Nelson Technology and the Making of Experimental Film Culture uses technology as a lens for examining the process of making where ideas come from how they are put into practice and how arguments about those ideas foster cultural and artistic commitments and communities Air Force Magazine ,2016 Screening China's Soft Power Paola Voci, Luo Hui, 2017-10-02 Promoting China's cultural soft power by disseminating modern Chinese values is one of the policies of President Xi Jinping. Although it is usually understood as a top-down initiative implemented willingly or unwillingly by writers, filmmakers, artists, and so on, and often manifesting itself in clumsy and awkward ways, for example the concept of the Chinese dream intended to rival and perhaps appeal more strongly than the American dream, modern Chinese values are in fact put forward in many ways by many different cultural actors. Through analyses of film festivals, CCTV Confucius Institutes, auteurs, blockbusters, reality TV, and online digital cultures, this book exposes the limitations of China's officially promoted soft power in both conception and practice and proposes a pluralistic approach to understanding Chinese soft power in local, regional, and transnational contexts. As such, the book demonstrates the limitations of existing theories of soft power and argues that the US-derived concept of soft power can benefit from being examined from a China perspective.

The Sublimity of Document Scott MacDonald, 2019-07-01 The Sublimity of Document Cinema as Diorama is a collection of in-depth substantive interviews with moving image artists working avant doc that is making films that explore the territory between documentary and experimental cinema. The book uses the early history of the museum habitat diorama of animal life, specifically the Hall of African Mammals at the American Museum of Natural History, as a way of rethinking both early and modern cinema, document, and especially those recent filmmakers and films that are devoted to providing viewers with panoramic documentations of places and events that otherwise they might never have opportunities to experience in person. This international collection of 27 interviews follows on MacDonald's earlier Avant Doc: Intersections of Documentary and Avant Garde Cinema (Oxford, 2015). The interviews, organized panoramically within the collection, are dense with information and insight and readable by specialists and non-specialists alike. In most instances, these are the most in-depth and expansive, sometimes the first interviews with these filmmakers. Together, these interviews offer an engaging panorama of the recent history and geography of cinema devoted to documenting the world around us, as well as an in-depth look at the challenges and accomplishments of filmmakers willing to go anywhere on the planet or on the internet to document what they believe we need to see. MacDonald's general introduction provides an overall context for the collection, which includes interviews with Ron Fricke, Gustav Deutsch, Laura Poitras, Fred Wiseman, Nikolaus Geyrhalter, Bill Morrison, Brett Story, Abbas Kiarostami, Lois Pati, o Dominic Gagnon, Erin Espelie, Yance Ford, Janet Biggs, Carlos Adriano, Craig Johnson, Ben Russell, Betzy Bromberg, James Benning, Maxim Pozdorovkin, along with several veterans of Harvard's Sensory Ethnography Lab and with the executive directors of the distributor Documentary Educational Resources, which has served the field of independent documentary for nearly fifty years. Each interview is introduced with MacDonald's overview of the interviewee's life and work. The book includes filmographies and selected bibliographies for all the filmmakers.

Contemporary Migrant Cinema Guido Rings,2016-01-08 As a rapidly aging continent Europe increasingly depends on the successful integration of migrants Unfortunately contemporary political and media discourses observe and frequently also support the development of nationalist eurosceptic and xenophobic reactions to immigration and growing multiethnicity Confronting this trend European cinema has developed and disseminated new transcultural and postcolonial alternatives that might help to improve integration and community cohesion in Europe and this book investigates these alternatives in order to identify examples of good practices that can enhance European stability While the cinematic spectrum is as wide and open as most notions of Europeanness the films examined share a fundamental interest in the Other In this qualitative film analysis approach particular consideration is given to British French German and Spanish productions and a comparison of multiethnic conviviality in Chicano cinema Psychologs Magazine February 2022 issue Arvind Otta,2022-02-04 conversations around gendered mental health in contemporary Western media culture While early 21st century media was marked by a distinct focus on happiness productivity and success during the 2010s negative feelings and discussions around mental health have become increasingly common in that same media landscape This book traces this turn to sadness in women s media culture and shows that it emerged indirectly as a result of a culture overtly focused on happiness By tracing the coverage of mental health issues in magazines among female celebrities and on social media this book shows how an increasingly intimate media environment has made way for a profitable vulnerability that takes the shape of marketable and brand friendly mental illness awareness that strengthens the authenticity of those who embrace it But at the same time sad girl cultures are proliferating on social media platforms creating radically honest spaces where those who suffer get support and more capacious ways of feeling bad are formed Using discourse analysis and digital ethnography to study contemporary representations of mental illness and sadness in Western popular media and social media this book takes a feminist media studies approach to popular discourse understanding the conversations happening around mental health in these sites to function as scripts for how to think about and experience mental illness and sadness Gary Paulsen Mary Ellen
