Scottish Steam A Celebration British Steam:

Scottish Steam Keith Langston, 2014-08-13 Scotland is renowned worldwide for its engineering prowess which of course included locomotive building. This lavishly illustrated and detailed publication celebrates standard gauge steam locomotive building North of the Border. Focussing not only on the achievements of the major companies North British Locomotive Co Ltd, Neilson Co Ltd, Neilson Reid Co Ltd, William Beardmore Ltd, Sharp Stewart Co Ltd and Andrew Barclay Sons Co Ltd, it also highlights the contribution made by several of the smaller but nevertheless significant locomotive builders. Details of the output of the several railway company locomotive building works are also included. All of the Scottish built locomotive classes which came into British Railways ownership are featured and a large majority of the carefully selected images are published for the first time. Scottish Steam celebrates the significant contribution made by Scottish railway engineering workshops to steam locomotive development.

Scottish Steam Keith Langston, 2014. This collection of images chronicle steam railways in Scotland generally during the British Railways era and particularly during the last complete decade of steam between 1955 and 1965. The photographs all taken well before the digital age have been especially selected to show the wide variety of Scottish based steam locomotive types at work and on shed at locations throughout Scotland which vary from inner city to country branch line. David Anderson's black and white images are a truly remarkable record of the age and they are complemented by carefully selected additional images by other notable photographers and accompanied by appropriate words supplied by railway author Keith Langston. AUTHOR David Anderson is a hugely respected railway author especially in his native Scotland. He has written hundreds of articles for many railway and steam magazines along with creating a vast archive of rare images. Further content will be supplied by Keith Langston, also a widely respected railway author. 150 illustrations.

Scottish Steam's Final Fling Keith Widdowson, 2017-05-01 In May 1967 Scotland became the third of the six British Railways regions to dispense with the steam locomotive bringing an iconic era of Britain's transport heritage closer to its demise. Residing over 300 miles away then teenaged Keith Widdowson's pilgrimages north of the border were marathon undertakings. Abysmal overnight time keeping, missed connections, trains allegedly booked as steam but turning up as diesel, each journey could have been a disaster but those setbacks were easily forgotten after many successes such as in catching runs with LNER A2s, A4s, V2s and B1s as well as BR Clans. Accompanied with brief historical data of routes and stations many no longer extant, visited alongside photographs from the author's archives, this book is a collection of reminiscences from the final two years of steam that anyone with a penchant for railways will enjoy.
