Searching For Agnes:

Agnes's Broken Dreams Judy King, 2023-01-20 It has been thirty years since Agnes last visited the country of her birth and upbringing While it is at the request of her aging narcissistic mother she has her own reasons for making the journey to Australia from her home on Mallorca Something has blighted her life since childhood Something has cast such a long shadow over her existence that her ability to grasp at life fully to appreciate her own sense of self worth to attain any semblance of happiness to trust without reservation has been damaged Those whom she chooses and who choose her seem to want only to exploit her Having undergone a long period of psychotherapy Agnes can now return to re experience the places that featured in her youth in the hope that burning questions will be answered haunting mysteries solved and buried memories let out into the light This is the vibrant heartening and often amusing tale of a buoyant and irrepressible woman whose natural energy and determination continue to drive her forward Having reached middle age she is determined to grapple with and heal the ills that have beset her

Searching for Normal in the Wake of the Liberian War Sharon Alane Abramowitz, 2014-07-28 At the end of Liberia's thirteen year civil war the devastated population struggled to rebuild their country and come to terms with their experiences of violence During the first decade of postwar reconstruction hundreds of humanitarian organizations created programs that were intended to heal trauma prevent gendered violence rehabilitate former soldiers and provide psychosocial care to the transitioning populace But the implementation of these programs was not always suited to the specific mental health needs of the population or easily reconciled with the broader aims of reconstruction and humanitarian peacekeeping and psychiatric treatment was sometimes ignored or unevenly integrated into postconflict humanitarian health care delivery Searching for Normal in the Wake of the Liberian War explores the human experience of the massive apparatus of trauma healing and psychosocial interventions during the first five years of postwar reconstruction Sharon Alane Abramowitz draws on extensive fieldwork among the government officials humanitarian leaders and an often overlooked population of Liberian NGO employees to examine the structure and impact of the mental health care interventions in particular the ways they were promised to work with peacekeeping and reconstruction and how the reach and effectiveness of these promises can be measured From this courageous ethnography emerges a geography of trauma and the ways it shapes the lives of those who give and receive care in postwar Liberia

A Search for a Secret: A Novel (Complete) George Alfred Henty, 1955-01-01 There are towns over which time seems to exercise but little power but to have passed them by forgotten in his swift course Everywhere else at his touch all is changed Great cities rise upon the site of fishing villages huge factories with their smoky chimneys grow up and metamorphose quiet towns into busy hives of industry while other cities once prosperous and flourishing sink into insignificance and the passer by as he wanders through their deserted streets wonders and laments over the ruin which has fallen upon them But the towns of which I am speaking and of which there are but few now left in England and these with hardly an exception cathedral towns seem to suffer no such change They neither progress nor fall back If left behind they are not beaten in the race for they have never entered upon it but are content to rest under the shelter of their tall spires and towers to seek for no change and to meet with none but to remain beloved as no other towns are loved by those who have long known them assimilating as it were the very natures of those who dwell in them to their own sober neutral tints In these towns a wanderer who has left them as a boy returning as an old old man will see but little change a house gone here another nearly similar built in its place a greyer tint upon the stone a tree fallen in the old close the ivy climbing a little higher upon the crumbling wall these are all or nearly all the changes which he will see The trains rush past bearing their countless passengers who so rarely think of stopping there that the rooks as they hold their grave conversations in their nests in the old elm trees cease to break off even for a moment at the sound of the distant whistle The very people seem although this is but seeming to have changed as little as the place the same names are over the shop doors the boy who was at school has taken his grand sire s place and stands at his door looking down the quiet street as the old man used to do before him the dogs are asleep in the sunny corners they formerly loved and the same horses seem to be lazily drawing the carts with familiar names upon them into the old market place The wanderer may almost fancy that he has awoke from a long troubled dream It is true that if he enters the little churchyard he will see beneath the dark shadows of the yew trees more gravestones than there were of old but the names are so similar that it is only upon reading them over that he will find that it is true after all and that the friends and playfellows of his childhood the strong merry boys and the fair girls with sunny ringlets sleep peacefully there But it is not full yet and he may hope that when his time shall come there may be some quiet nook found where even as a child he may have fancied that he would like some day to rest Among these cities pre eminent as a type of its class is the town in which I now sit down to recount the past events of my life and of the lives of those most dear to me not egotistically I hope nor thrusting my own story in which indeed there is little enough into view but telling of those I have known and lived with as I have noted the events down in my journal and at times when the things I speak of are related merely on hearsay dropping that dreadful personal pronoun which will get so prominent and telling the story as it was told to me Although not born at Canterbury I look upon it as my native town my city of adoption My earliest remembrances are of the place my childhood and youth were spent there and although I was then for a few years absent it was for that stormy stirring time when life is wrapped up in persons and not in places when the mere scene in which the drama is played out leaves barely an impression upon the mind so all absorbing is the interest in the performers That time over I returned to Canterbury as to my home and hope beneath the shadow of its stately towers to pass tranquilly down the hill of life whose ascent I there made with such eager strong young steps

In Search of Happiness Sonwabiso Ngcowa,2014-03-01 Nana is fifteen when she travels from her village in the Eastern Cape to the city She is overjoyed to be reunited with her family even if they are living in a tiny shack But she struggles to fit in at her new school and she is shocked at the violence shown to Chino and Agnes her

Zimbabwean neighbours When she and Agnes become close friends and find love in unexpected places Nana learns firsthand just how brutal ignorance can be and how hard it is to hold on to happiness Fairy in Black Frock Dhanraj

Dengle,2019-12-02 What if someone is hurting your beloved one What if someone snitch your closest sole Would you go out and take revenge or let the Karma do its magic Every story has different view For one its revenge and for another it s morally wrong to hurt people Arshad met Maithili with hope to keep her lifetime and Maithili has her own issues Rup is losing his best friend and Annu is losing her family Rudra has no choice other than investigation and Agnes is only cute and beautiful among all Story turns another way when someone starts blackmailing Maithili and at the same time Arshad got to know that one of his close one is keep hiding a dark evil skull behind skin Story raises question over who is Hurting whom and who is Eviler among all The mystery lies in lines and resolves when everyone unpuzzle the Fairy in Black Frock Plays for author of Color Me Butterfly a poignant novel about a decades long love affair and the complicated and unbreakable ties between two families that live worlds apart Morris Sullivan joins the navy in 1940 with a love of ships and high hopes Though he leaves behind his new wife Agnes and their baby daughter he is thrilled to be pursuing his lifelong dream but things change when he is shipped off to Pearl Harbor when the war begins When he narrowly survives the 1941 attack thanks to the courage of a black sailor he doesn t know Morris is determined to seek out the man s family and express his gratitude and respect On leave he tracks down the man s sister in his own hometown of Boston and finds an immediate and undeniable connection with the nurturing yet fiercely independent Beatrice who has left the stifling South of her upbringing for the more liberal integrated north Though both try to deny their growing bond their connection and understanding is everything missing from Morris s hasty marriage to his high school sweetheart and from Beatrice s plodding life as she grieves the brother she has lost At once a family epic and a historical drama that brings the streets and neighborhoods of Boston vividly to life from World War II through the civil rights era to the present day A Life Apart takes readers along for the emotional journey as Morris and Beatrice s relationship is tested by time family loyalties unending guilt racial tensions death and the profound effects of war Drama ,1922 Iron Pioneers Tyler R.
