Philosophy, Politics, and Austrian Economics Daniel J. D'Amico, Adam G. Martin, 2020-10-29 Philosophy Politics and Economics as an interdisciplinary endeavour has surged in popularity in recent years Work in this field usually draws on standard microeconomics to grapple with questions from political philosophy But what might Austrian economics which provides an alternative approach have to offer to this endeavour

Black Climates Selina Nwulu, 2025-08-28 To want to save the planet a person has to have a sense of belonging in it What would a saved planet look like for a Black collective This book is validating and monumental Courttia Newland Sensitive powerful and necessary Joycelyn Longdon Globally Black people are among the most affected by the climate crisis despite contributing very little to it For a long time the crisis was portrayed as yet another injustice for Black people to care about on top of the day to day oppression they face In Black Climates Selina Nwulu reframes the crisis to encompass our disconnection from each other and the world around us She argues that the root of climate change lies in historical colonial violence and ongoing exploitation making it inherently racist Nwulu former Young People s Laureate for London uses her poetic and skilful voice to directly address Black British readers who have been previously ignored in mainstream environmental conversations She includes interviews with a wide range of creatives and campaigners to explore a variety of subjects including air pollution prison ecology disability justice migration food nature community care and radical imagination This is an essential and empowering read for anyone who wants to fully understand the connections between Blackness and the climate crisis providing the tools to envisage more equitable futures
