course development as well as institutional student and faculty support Serving as a critical resource for online and hybrid learning programs this publication is designed for use by administrators educators instructional designers and doctorate level students in the field of education

Epistemic Justice and the Postcolonial University Amrita Pande,Ruchi Chaturvedi,Shari Daya,Sepideh Azari,Koni Benson,Hal Cooper,Kerusha Govender,Shose Kessi,Nomusa Makhubu,Athambile Masola,Lungisile Ntsebeza,Jameelah Omar,Kealeboga Ramaru,Ari Sitas,Rike Sitas,2023-08-01 This book addresses urgent current debates on decolonisation by offering reimagined teaching and learning interventions for obtaining greater epistemic justice in the contemporary postcolonial university At a time when debates on decolonisation have gained urgency in academic civic and public spaces this interdisciplinary collection by authors based at the University of Cape Town South Africa serves as a valuable archive documenting and reflecting on a turbulent period in South African higher education It is an important resource for academics looking to grasp debates on decoloniality both in South Africa and in university and teaching spaces further afield Calling for concerted and collaborative work towards greater epistemic justice across diverse disciplines the book puts forward a new vision of the postcolonial university as one that enables excellent teaching and learning undertaken in a spirit of critical consciousness and reciprocity

Pioneers of the Field Andrew Bank,2016-08-11 Focusing on the crucial contributions of women researchers Andrew Bank demonstrates that the modern school of social anthropology in South Africa was uniquely female dominated The book traces the personal and intellectual histories of six remarkable women through the use of a rich cocktail of archival sources including family photographs private and professional correspondence field notes and field diaries published and other public writings and even love letters The book also sheds new light on the close connections between their personal lives their academic work and their anti segregationist and anti apartheid politics It will be welcomed by anthropologists historians and students in African studies interested in the development of social anthropology in twentieth century Africa as well as by students and researchers in the field of gender studies

Undoing Modernity Catherine R. Rhodes,2025-01-07 An ethnography of the decolonization of Maya ness On the Yucatan Peninsula today undergraduates are inventing a new sense of being Maya by studying linguistics and culture in their own language Maya In this bold theoretical intervention informed by ethnographic research Catherine Rhodes argues that these students are undoing the category of modernity itself Created through colonization of the Americas modernity is the counterpart to coloniality the students Rhodes suggests are creating decoloniality s companion demodernity Disciplines like linguistics anthropology history and archaeology invented the Maya as an essentialized ethnos in a colonial modern mold Undoing Modernity follows students and their teachers as they upset the seemingly stable ethnic definition of Maya with its reliance on a firm dichotomy of Maya and modern Maya linguistics does not prove that Maya is modern but instead rejects the Maya ness that modernity built while also fostering within the university an intellectual space in which students articulate identity on their own terms An erudite and ultimately hopeful work of interdisciplinary scholarship that brings linguistic anthropology Mesoamerican studies and critical Indigenous studies into the conversation Undoing Modernity dares to imagine the world on the other side of colonial modern ideals of Indigeneity

Global Epistemologies and Philosophies of Science David Ludwig, Inkeri Koskinen, Zinhle Mncube, Luana Poliseli, Luis Reyes-Galindo, 2021-07-29 In bringing together a global community of philosophers Global Epistemologies and Philosophies of Science develops novel perspectives on epistemology and philosophy of science by demonstrating how frameworks from academic philosophy e g standpoint theory social epistemology feminist philosophy of science and related fields e g decolonial studies transdisciplinarity global history of science can contribute to critical engagement with global dimensions of knowledge and science Global challenges such as climate change food production and infectious diseases raise complex questions about scientific knowledge production and its interactions with local knowledge systems and social realities As academic philosophy provides relatively little reflection on global negotiations of knowledge many pressing scientific and societal issues remain disconnected from core debates in epistemology and philosophy of science This book is an invitation to broaden agendas of academic philosophy by presenting epistemology and philosophy of science as globally engaged fields that address heterogeneous forms of knowledge production and their interactions with local livelihoods practices and worldviews This integrative ambition makes the book equally relevant for philosophers and interdisciplinary scholars who are concerned with methodological and political challenges at the intersection of science and society

Law, Obligation, Community Daniel Matthews, Scott Veitch, 2018-06-27 Against an ever expanding and diversifying rights talk this book re opens the question of obligation from not only legal but also ethical sociological and political perspectives Its premise is that obligation has a primacy ahead of rights because rights attach to practices and modes of being that are already saturated with obligations Obligations thus lie at the core not just of law but of community Yet the distinctive meanings range and situations of obligation have tended to remain under theorised in legal scholarship In response this book examines the sense in which we are multiply bound beings to law and legal institutions as much as we are to place community memory and the various social institutions that give shape to collective life Sharing this set of concerns each of the international group of scholars contributing to this volume traces the specificity of the binding force of obligations their techniques and modes of expression as well as their centrally important role in giving form to lawful relations Together they provide an innovative and challenging contribution to legal scholarship one that will also be of relevance to those working in politics philosophy and social theory

Making Worlds Claudia Breger, 2020-04-14 The twenty first century has witnessed a resurgence of economic inequality racial exclusion and political hatred causing questions of collective identity and belonging to assume new urgency In Making Worlds Claudia Breger argues that contemporary European cinema provides ways of thinking about and feeling collectivity that can challenge these political trends Breger offers nuanced readings of major contemporary films such as Michael Haneke's The White Ribbon Alejandro González Iñárritu's Biutiful Fatih Akın's The Edge of Heaven Asghar Farhadi's A Separation and Aki Kaurismäki's refugee trilogy as well as works by Jean-Luc Godard and Rainer Werner Fassbinder Through a new model of cinematic worldmaking Breger examines the ways in which these works produce unexpected and destabilizing affects that invite viewers to imagine new connections among individuals or groups These films and their depictions of refugees immigrants and communities do not simply counter dominant political imaginaries of hate and fear with calls for empathy or solidarity Instead they produce layered sensibilities that offer the potential for greater openness to others present past and future claims Drawing on the work of Latour Deleuze and Rancière Breger engages questions of genre and realism along with the legacies of cinematic modernism Offering a rich account of contemporary film Making Worlds theorizes the cinematic creation of imaginative spaces in order to find new ways of responding to political hatred

Decolonising the University Gurinder K. Bhambra, Dalia Gebrial, Kerem Nişancıoğlu, 2018-08-20 In 2015 students at the University of Cape Town demanded the removal of a statue of Cecil Rhodes the imperialist racist business magnate from their campus The battle cry Rhodes Must Fall sparked an international movement calling for the decolonisation of the world's universities Today as this movement grows how will it radically transform the terms upon which universities exist In this book students activists and scholars discuss the possibilities and the pitfalls of doing decolonial work in the home of the coloniser in the heart of the establishment Subverting curricula enforcing diversity and destroying old boundaries this is a radical call for a new era of education Offering resources for students and academics to challenge and resist coloniality inside and outside the classroom Decolonising the University provides the tools for radical pedagogical disciplinary and institutional change
