

The Cultural Landscape

The background of the cover is a photograph of a group of women, likely from a West African culture, wearing brightly colored headwraps in shades of red, pink, and yellow. They are looking directly at the camera with neutral expressions. The image is slightly out of focus in the background, emphasizing the women in the foreground.

Vann, 2012-03-20 As long as the human species has existed men and women have had to contend with the unpredictable forces of nature Geographer Barry A Vann brings a unique perspective to this age old struggle in this illuminating overview of human population shifts and their precarious relationship with climate change and geography Vann takes us on a journey along the migration routes of the earliest modern humans and tells why our ancestors chose to settle down in places that can be best described as natural utopias In the religiously oriented worldview of ancient peoples such places took on a sacred aura of divine favor Similarly destructive events such as volcanic eruptions and earthquakes were interpreted as expressions of divine wrath Vann shows how the ancient texts of the Bible and the Qur'an offer glimpses of past climates that were distinctly different from the climate of our time He also discusses the rise of technology as a means of controlling the threatening features of the natural world Though technology has enabled humanity to cope with hostile climates it has also created a false sense of security Vann notes that population clusters are increasing in dangerous areas and that no technology can protect vulnerable groups from major category hurricanes tornadoes or earthquakes Finally he considers our current anxieties regarding global warming pointing out that this focus has obscured a good deal of historical and geological evidence for a return of another ice age The Forces of Nature offers a challenging perspective on the precarious balance between fragile human communities and their often threatening environments Puritan Islam Barry A. Vann,2011-09-27 In this unique analysis of Muslim population shifts in the Western world geographer Barry A Vann provides fresh insights into the theological factors that play into these demographic trends Vann examines the imagined geographies of Muslims with a puritan orientation People with this mind set are little inclined to accept a pluralistic multicultural live and let live concept of society And conflicts between conflicting value systems are almost inevitable Vann notes that this purist approach to Islam is certainly not universal among Muslims and there are many varying interpretations that are more moderate in outlook Nonetheless the undeniable theological background of all Muslim communities colors their values and attitudes and must be taken into consideration when attempting to understand the potential conflicts between contiguous Muslim and non Muslim groups Given the fact that the population of Muslim immigrants is growing in traditionally Christian and increasingly secular countries of the Western world while the resident populations are either stagnant or declining Vann s insightful analysis of the ways in which Islam influences perceptions of community and geography is of great relevance Human Geography Erin H. Fouberg,Alexander B. Murphy,Harm J. de Blij,2015-01-12 Fouberg s Human Geography 11th Edition teaches students to appreciate the diversity of people places and cultures and understand the role people play in shaping our world The goals of this edition are to provide geographic context to global regional national and local issues and to teach students to think geographically and critically about these issues Human Geography People Place and Culture features beautifully designed maps dozens of vibrant photographs taken by the author team and author and guest field notes that help students see how geographers read cultural landscapes and use fieldwork to understand places A newly designed demographic data table includes economic political and population data all of which can be examined in ArcGIS Online 21st Century Geography Joseph P.
