The Administration's National Testing Proposal United States. Congress. House. Committee on Education and the Workforce. Subcommittee on Early Childhood, Youth, and Families, 1998      Test Policy in Defense Bernard R. Gifford, Linda C. Wing, 2012-12-06 Bernard R Gifford and Linda C Wing Standardized testing has become a ubiquitous feature of American life As a major source of information for reducing uncertainty in the allocation of merit based educational training and employment opportunities testing affects the life chances of individuals Moreover testing influences the way in which our society judges itself and provides for our collective future Test scores may determine a child's admission to kindergarten and promotion to the first grade Most states award the high school diploma only if a student has passed a minimum competency test Major institutions of higher education typically require applicants to supplement their records of academic achievement with scores on college admissions tests In the labor market as a condition of employment or assignment to training programs more and more employers are requiring workers to sit for personnel selection tests Additionally it has become commonplace to use test scores to calibrate our national sociopolitical condition and our capacity to compete with other countries in the global economy In short with increasing frequency and intensity scores on examinations that purport to be objective and precise measures of individual knowledge abilities and potential are playing a critical role in the opportunity marketplace Similarly test scores are exercising growing influence in assessments of our social and economic institutions and in policy decisions about the relative investments that should be made in each In all these instantiations test scores are at the center of high stakes decision making about the future of individuals and of the nation itself      Sex and Race Differences on Standardized Tests United States. Education Testing United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Appropriations. Subcommittee on Departments of Labor, Health and Human Services, Education, and Related Agencies, 1998 A hearing was held to consider the issues involved in funding the administration's proposals for certain educational testing After opening remarks by Senators Kennedy Massachusetts Specter Pennsylvania and Harkin Iowa the Secretary of Education Richard W Riley spoke about the proposed tests The Clinton Administration and Secretary Riley believe that a rigorous voluntary national testing system in fourth grade reading and eighth grade mathematics would determine how well students are achieving in basic skills The proposed tests are an extension of the National Assessment of Educational Progress NAEP and would use the NAEP framework to hold students to high standards Secretary Riley emphasized that these tests are voluntary and not designed to be part of a move toward a national curriculum Senator Specter raised the question of delaying establishing the tests until a better national consensus is reached and Senator Kennedy also commented favorably on the testing proposal Senator Faircloth North Carolina questioned the usefulness of a voluntary test and Senator Gregg New Hampshire questioned the participation of the Department of Education in the creation of the tests Additional remarks were made by Senator Jeffords and Representative Goodling Chairman of the Committee on Education of the House of Representatives who opposes the voluntary national test SLD Economic Impact Analysis of Proposed Identification and Notification Rule on Friable Asbestos Containing Materials in Schools Susan Wright, 1980 United States Code: Title 20, Education to Title 25, Indians United States, 1994 Building America's Competitiveness United States.
