Everything in Its Place David B. Audretsch, 2015-03-02 Every city region and state wants to improve However while the field of strategic management exists in business schools to guide firms and organizations no such analogous field exists for places Everything in Its Place weaves together theories empirical evidence and case studies from a broad spectrum of scholarly disciplines and combines them with insights and experiences garnered from practitioners and policy makers to provide a systematic framework for guiding and informing the strategic management of places

Fracking Uncertainty Heather Millar, 2024-08-30 Hydraulic fracturing fracking is an unconventional extraction technique used in the oil and gas industry that has fundamentally transformed global energy politics In Fracking Uncertainty Heather Millar explains variation in Canadian provincial policy approaches which range from pro development regulation to moratoria and outright bans Millar argues that although regulatory designs are shaped by governments desires to seek out economic benefits or protect against environmental harms policy makers perceptions of said benefits and or harms are mediated through socially constructed narratives about uncertainty and risk Fracking Uncertainty offers in depth case studies of regulatory development in British Columbia Alberta New Brunswick and Nova Scotia Drawing on media analysis and interviews with government officials industry representatives academics and environmental advocates Millar demonstrates how risk narratives foster distinctive forms of learning in each province leading to different regulatory reforms

The Oxford Handbook of Local Competitiveness David B. Audretsch, Albert N. Link, Mary Lindenstein Walshok, 2015 An analysis of what influences and shapes local competitiveness and what places can do to enhance their economic performance

Imperiled Whiteness Penelope Ingram, 2023-06-23 In Imperiled Whiteness Penelope Ingram examines the role played by media in the resurgence of white nationalism and neo Nazi movements in the Obama to Trump era As politicians on the right stoked anxieties about whites losing ground and being left behind media platforms turned whiteness into a commodity that was packaged and disseminated to a white populace Reading popular film and television franchises Planet of the Apes Star Trek and The Walking Dead through political flashpoints such as debates over immigration reform gun control and Black Lives Matter protests Ingram reveals how media cultivated feelings of white vulnerability and loss among white consumers

By exploring the convergence of entertainment news and social media in a digital networked environment Ingram demonstrates how media's renewed attention to imperiled whiteness enabled and sanctioned the return of overt white supremacy exhibited by alt right groups in the Unite the Right rally in Charlottesville in 2017 and the Capitol riots in 2021

Mares, 2022-10-04 It is widely thought that state ownership of natural resources oil and natural gas in particular causes countries to fall under the sway of the resource curse In such cases governments allegedly display resource nationalism which destabilizes the economy

society and politics In this book David R Mares dispels these beliefs and develops a powerful new account of the relationship between state resource ownership and energy policy Mares examines variations in energy policy across a wide range of countries underscoring the fact that in most of the world outside the United States subsoil natural resources are owned by the state He considers the history of Latin American oil and gas policies and provides an in depth analysis of Venezuela from 1989 to 2016 before during and after the presidency of Hugo Chavez Mares demonstrates that the key factors that influence energy policy are the inclusiveness of the political system the level of competitiveness within policy making and the characteristics of individual leaders Domestic politics not state ownership determines the effectiveness and efficiency of energy policies the resource curse is avoidable Drawing on these findings Mares reconceptualizes resource nationalism arguing that government intervention into resource extraction is legitimate as long as the benefits are shared through the provision of public goods Featuring a sophisticated grasp of both Latin American politics and energy policy this book sheds new light on why some governments are responsible stewards of natural resources while others appropriate national wealth for partisan or private benefit Proceedings on 18th International Conference on Industrial Systems - IS'20 Bojan

Winston H. Griffith,2021-10-12 It has been suggested that if CARICOM nations wish to accelerate their development they should embrace laissez faire economic policies However laissez faire economic policies have reinforced the very economic and social structures that have contributed to their low level of development furthermore laissez faire economic policies ignore social attitudes that can greatly influence a nation s development Moreover low skilled labor intensive production processes which once propelled growth in CARICOM nations will no longer perform a similar role because production processes are becoming more and more knowledge skills intensive and nations wishing to attract foreign manufacturing investment or high tech services may not be able to do so without an adequate pool of the necessary knowledge skills CARICOM nations must therefore try to accumulate a pool of knowledge skills that can help their economies become internationally competitive
