COCKPIT TIME

When you enter the cockpit of a P-38, you will find a wealth of instruments and controls. The cockpit is designed to be as efficient as possible, with all the controls within easy reach of the pilot. The cockpit is divided into two main sections: the instrument panel and the control yoke. The instrument panel is located in front of the pilot and contains all the gauges and dials. The control yoke is located to the right of the instrument panel and is used to control the aircraft's pitch and roll. The cockpit is also equipped with a variety of other controls, including the throttle, mixture, and carburetor. The cockpit is a complex environment, but it is designed to be as intuitive as possible, so that the pilot can focus on flying the aircraft.
