

Principles that Guide the Work of the Portage Project

Relationship Focused:

Learning occurs within the context of relationships. We pay attention to the relationships surrounding the child and family, and place primary importance on building relationships as a basis for our work. The path to our most effective work is through relationships, which sustain us both professionally and personally.

Ecological Thinking:

Considering and exploring the larger environmental context in which children, family, staff, and programs exist. Recognizing that a multiple of elements - including history, biology, culture, and relationship - influence what we see and hear as we engage in interactions.

Strengths Based:

Focusing on and building upon the strengths, or assets, of children, families, and staff to grow relationships and guide intervention.

Reflective:

Taking time to think individually and collectively about our work enhances the quality of what we do and how we feel. This reflective process influences our interactions and relationships.

Family Systems Centered:

Viewing families as equal partners. Families guide the work we do, and are the primary decision makers.

McCormack, Amanda J. Chalmers, 1978 The Angler's Guide to Eastern Canada Edward Thomas Davies Chambers, 1898 Home Visiting Barbara Hanna Wasik, Donna M. Bryant, 2001 This Second Edition is a good source for those training to be home visitors in service home visitors supervisors and directors of home visiting programs serving a wide range of families Recent evaluations of home visiting are summarized and practical suggestions for evaluating local programs are also included This is an easy to read and essential resource for both beginning and experienced home visitors trainers supervisors of home visitors and directors of home visiting programs Assessment of Young Developmentally Disabled Children Theodore D. Wachs, Robert Sheehan, 2013-06-29 Our knowledge of the cognitive and social emotional functioning of developmentally disabled infants and preschoolers derives in large part from our assessment of such children This book has been developed to familiarize readers with the characteristics of developmentally disabled children and to introduce to readers aspects of measurement that are of relevance to the assessment of atypical infants and preschoolers The book has been developed with clinicians and prospective clinicians in mind These are individuals who are committed to the care and education of developmentally disabled infants and preschoolers and the families of those children The book has thus been written to provide support for the use of assessment data in planning early intervention programs Of special note in the development of this edited book is that it is divided into four major parts with interrelated chapters in each part The authors of chapters in Parts II and III had access to the chapters in Part I before writing their chapters The summary chapters found in Part IV were similarly written by authors having access to all chapters in Parts I-III This approach to the development of an edited book was chosen as a way of ensuring an integration of major concepts throughout the book This process is also a reflection of our belief that assessment is an interdisciplinary process involving the synthesis of a number of diverse interests
