English Poetry Since 1940 Neil Corcoran, 2014-07-15 Neil Corcoran s book is a major survey and interpretation of modern British poetry since 1940 offering a wealth of insights into poets and their work and placing them in a broader context of poetic dialogue and cultural exchange The book is organised into five main parts beginning with a consideration of the late Modernism of T S Eliot and W H Auden and ranging decade by decade from the poetry of the Second World War and the New Romanticism of Dylan Thomas to the Movement the poetry of Northern Ireland the variety of contemporary women s poetry and the diversity of the contemporary scene The book will be especially useful for students as it includes detailed and lively readings of works by such poets as Ted Hughes Seamus Heaney and Philip Larkin

Early Modern English Marginalia Katherine Acheson, 2018-12-17 Marginalia in early modern and medieval texts printed handwritten drawn scratched colored and pasted in offer a glimpse of how people as individuals and in groups interacted with books and manuscripts over often lengthy periods of time The chapters in this volume build on earlier scholarship that established marginalia as an intellectual method Grafton and Jardine as records of reading motivated by cultural social theological and personal inclinations Brayman Hackel and Orgel and as practices inspired by material affordances particular to the book and the pen Fleming and Sherman They further the study of the practices of marginalia as a mode a set of ways in which material opportunities and practices overlap with intellectual social and personal motivations to make meaning in the world They introduce us to a set of idiosyncratic examples such as the trace marks of objects left in books deliberately or by accident cut and pasted additions to printed volumes a marriage depicted through shared book ownership They reveal to us in case studies the unique value of marginalia as evidence of phenomena as important and diverse as religious change authorial self invention and the history of the literary canon The chapters of this book go beyond the case study however and raise broad historical cultural and theoretical questions about the strange marvelous metamorphic thing we call the book and the equally multiplicitous eccentric and inscrutable beings who accompany them through history readers and writers

Conceptualising China through translation James St. André, 2023-11-07 This monograph provides an innovative methodology for investigating how China has been conceptualised historically by tracing the development of four key cultural terms filial piety face fengshui and guanxi between English and Chinese It addresses how specific ideas about what constitutes the uniqueness of Chinese culture influence the ways users of these concepts think about China and themselves Adopting a combination of archival research and mining of electronic databases it documents how the translation process has been bound up in the production of new meaning In uncovering how both sides of the translation process stand to be transformed by it the study demonstrates the dialogic nature of translation and its potential contribution to cross cultural understanding It also aims to develop a foundation on which other area studies might build broader scholarship about global knowledge production and exchange
