Time And Science - Volume 3: Physical Sciences And Cosmology Remy Lestienne, Paul Harris, 2023-06-22 The present volume of Time and Science series is devoted to Physical Sciences and Cosmology Today more than ever the question is Time an ontological property a necessary ingredient for the physical description of the world or a purely epistemological element relative to our situation in the world worry physicists and cosmologists alike For many of them Relativity and particularly General Relativity as well as its reconciliation with quantum mechanics in the elaboration of a quantum theory of gravitation points to a negative answer to the first alternative and leads them to deny the objective reality of time For others the answer is nuanced by the evidence of an emerging temporal property when one climbs the scales of the complexity of systems and or the applicability of the statistical laws of thermodynamics But for some the illusion of the unreality of time comes from certain confusions that they denounce and plead for the re establishment of time at the heart of physical theories Space debates over its theoretical assumptions and political commitments and its formative vision of societal ordering based upon a synthesis of economic theories and legal concepts The renewal of that vision through the ordoliberal conceptualisation of the European integration project the challenges of the current European crisis and the divergent perceptions of ordoliberalism within Germany and by its northern and southern EU neighbours are a common concern of all these endeavours They unfold interdisciplinary affinities and misunderstandings cultural predispositions and prejudices and political preferences and cleavages By examining European traditions through the lens of ordoliberalism the book illustrates the diversity of European economic cultures and the difficulty of transnational political exchanges in a time of European crisis
