Abstract—The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 10-week training program on the heart rate (HR) and blood pressure (BP) of sedentary, middle-aged men. The subjects were divided into two groups: a control group and a training group. The control group consisted of 10 men who did not participate in any physical activity during the study. The training group consisted of 10 men who participated in a 10-week training program. The training program consisted of three sessions per week, each lasting 30 minutes. The sessions were performed on a stationary bike at a heart rate of 150 beats per minute. The HR and BP were measured at the beginning and end of the study. The results showed that the training group had a significant decrease in HR and BP compared to the control group. The HR of the training group decreased from 170 beats per minute to 150 beats per minute, and the BP decreased from 130/80 mmHg to 120/70 mmHg. The HR of the control group remained at 170 beats per minute, and the BP remained at 130/80 mmHg. These results suggest that a 10-week training program can effectively reduce HR and BP in sedentary, middle-aged men.
