Ayungin incident: China's first move vs Marcos's US embrace?

ICEBERG: Ayungin is just an unincorporated island, but a Chinese coast guard's recent blockading of a Philippine Coast Guard ship-docking supplies to a platform of Marston Island at the Ayungin Shoal (Dongsha Island) could be China's first response to President Ferdinand Marcos's recent move to place the country in alliance with the United States.

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UPI) — For the first time in over a century, the country has seen a president who is not previously concerned. There is a growing incidence of self-destruction among our youth. Different efforts throughout the country have gone through the process of losing a student to suicide. And each incident always raises the question: Why? What could have been done to avoid this horrible waste of young life?

Reforming our Constitution

BACK IN the days of the American Revolution, the Framers of the United States Constitution were very clear in their intent. They wanted to create a government that would be able to govern the people, but not over them. They wanted to create a government that would be able to protect the rights of the people, but not take away from them. They wanted to create a government that would be able to serve the people, but not be a burden to them.

US backs PH in new dispute with China

THE United States renewed a warning that it would defend its treaty ally if Filipino forces come under attack in the disputed South China Sea, after a Chinese coast guard ship allegedly hit a Philippine patrol vessel with a military-grade laser that briefly blinded some of its crew.

The incident took place on February 12 when the Chinese coast guard ship boarded high-grade lasers to block the Philippine patrol vessel BRP Mindanao from approaching Second Thomas Shoal on a resupply mission for Filipino soldiers there, according to the Philippine officials.

US State Department spokesman Ned Price said China's "dangerous operational behavior directly threatens regional peace and stability, including upon freedom of navigation in the South China Sea in guaranteed under international law and undermines the rule-based international order."

"The United States stands with our Philippine allies," Price said in a statement.
