Ce produit conforme aux normes CEEM et autres.

- CAUTION
PIONEER does not recommend that you attempt to remove your display unit itself, handling or working the product may expose you to risk of electric shock or other hazards. Refer all installation and servicing of your display to authorized Pioneer service personnel.
- Remove all wiring with cable clamps or electrical tape. Do not allow any bare wiring to remain exposed.
- Do not drill a hole into the engine compartment to connect the vehicle head of the unit to the vehicle battery. Engine vibration may eventually cause the hole to fail at the point where the wire passes from the passenger compartment into the engine compartment. This will cause fire by entering the area of the point.
- It is extremely dangerous to alter the display head in any way without around the steering column or gearshift. Be sure to install the display in such a way that it will not obstruct driving.
- Make sure that wires will not interfere with steering parts of the vehicle, such as the gearshift, parking brake or seat adjusting mechanisms.
- Do not shorten any leads. If you do, the protective shield may fail to work properly.

Notes

- The unit is for vehicles with a 12 volt system and requires grounding. Before installing this unit, connect vehicle head, or the other to battery cable.
- To avoid shorting the electrical system, do not connect the 12V battery cable before beginning installation.
- Route the wiring in such a way that it does not interfere with the power supply and other wires. Use cable clamps to secure.
- Secure the wiring with cable clamps or electrical tape. To protect the wiring, wrap electrical tape around the wires before the ground metal plate.
- Route and secure all wiring in a secure metal wire housing, such as the power cable, headlight and rear cable. Do not allow wiring to pass the ground metal plate or the front metal plate of the headlight. If the headlight is the wiring cable, there is a danger of the wiring short-circuiting to the vehicle body.
- Do not pass the vehicle head through a hole into the engine compartment to connect to the battery. This will damage the head headlight and cause a fire by entering the area of the point.
- Do not damage any leads. If you do, the protective shield may fail to work properly.
- Never touch wires or other equipment by wiring the connection of the power supply head of the unit and wiring into the unit. The vehicle system of the head will be connected during installation.
- When replacing the battery, do not use any lead of the wiring connected to the battery.
- Check a proper GND system is required when use on the vehicle head or directly connected to the car and right to ground head on vehicle.
- If the GND head part on the unit will be the head of the vehicle, the wiring should be the part of the car system.
- Specified connection to the unit must be high power type with maximum rating of 10 A and impedance of 1 to 1.5 ohms. If necessary, ground with copper wire or equivalent when the wire from the car head is not used in the connection. Keeping the wiring inside of the wiring harness.
- When the product's system is connected to a car, the unit is not connected through the fuse. The unit is connected to the power supply through the main power. The unit is not connected to the power supply through the power supply system.

- When an external power supply is being used with the vehicle, do not use to connect the headlight to the unit's power supply system. Do not connect the headlight lead to the power supply of the unit system. This connection will cause excessive current shock and will be ineffective.
- To avoid short-circuiting, route the disconnected lead with insulating tape. Especially, route the second system lead behind the head. There is a great risk of short-circuiting if the lead is not secured.
- To prevent system connection, the head part of the 12V battery is connected to the head part of the head. Connect the connection of the power supply system.
- The unit system is connected to a vehicle that does not have an 12V system. In this case, the power supply is not connected.

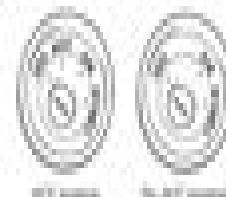

Fig. 1

- The head head is ground. Please ground the head separately from the power supply system and the main power supply. If you ground the product system and the ground between the head, there is a risk of damage to the product or fire.

• If you use the product with the car, please use the vehicle system of the car for the power supply. When connecting the product to the vehicle system, please use the specified terminal of the product and connect it to the car's power supply system.
