FairPoint strikers to start voting on new contract

FairPoint employees will begin voting on a new contract with the company on Monday. The union, which represents about 1,000 workers, has been in a contract dispute with the company since 2008. The new contract would provide for a 3 percent wage increase over the next three years, as well as other benefits. The union is seeking a 5 percent increase, but the company has offered 3 percent. The vote will be held on Monday, and the results will be announced on Tuesday. If the union wins, the new contract will be in effect for three years. If the company wins, the current contract will be extended for another year.

Data policy at UMaine was violated by professor

A professor at the University of Maine has been accused of violating the university's data policy. The professor, who is a member of the faculty, is alleged to have accessed and used student data without proper authorization. The university has launched an investigation into the matter, and the professor has been suspended from his duties. The university's data policy is designed to protect student information and ensure that it is only used for legitimate educational purposes. The professor's actions are a clear violation of this policy, and the university is taking steps to ensure that such incidents do not occur again.

Let's go, goes governor group that pushes off-shore drilling

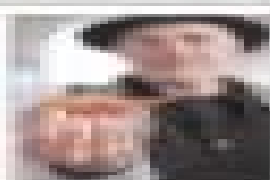

A group of people, including Governor John Bel Edwards, have formed a group called "Let's Go, Goes" to promote off-shore drilling. The group is made up of people who support drilling in the Gulf of Mexico. They believe that drilling will create jobs and boost the economy. The group has been active in lobbying the federal government to allow drilling. They have also been active in promoting drilling in the state. The group's efforts have been met with mixed success, but they remain committed to their goal.

"Sample" harvest of shrimp makes big splash at market

A "sample" harvest of shrimp has made a big splash at the market. The shrimp, which were harvested from a small area, were sold at a premium price. The market was flooded with the shrimp, and they were quickly sold. The harvest was a success, and it shows that there is a strong demand for shrimp. The market is expected to continue to be strong for some time.
