Introduction

Did you know that Drug Addiction is a Disease? Many people refer to it as behavioral problem but it impacts the brain hence a chronic brain disease. Drug addicts become obsessed with drugs such that they always want to take more. This is normally as a result of changes that occur to the brain.

The victim becomes reliant on drugs, and thus he/she does not take them voluntarily. Drug addiction is a community disease since everybody is impacted including public health programs. This research paper therefore will aim at discussing the causes, signs and symptoms, effects and help for drug addiction to portray it as negative vice both to individuals and the society as a whole.

Causes of Drug Addiction

The main cause of drug addiction is, obviously, the use of drugs but there are specific predictors making some people engage in drug abuse. One of these causes is continued exposure to drugs. This may be from peers or even family.

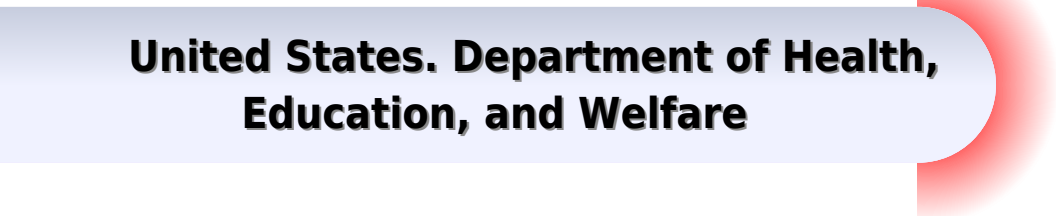

Thus it is more likely for a person who lives under exposure to drugs at his/her early years to become an addict in adult life, than a counterpart who spends his/her childhood without exposure. For the aforementioned case of influence by family members, a person may be introduced to drugs by his/her siblings, or he/she may even copy what his/her parents do regarding the use of drugs.

There is also the issue of drugs being available to a person. This can potentially lead the person to use them, and eventually lead to addiction. Additionally, genetics may also play an important role in determining whether a person will become a drug addict.

This is because genetics are associated with dispositions that may make a person prone to drug abuse. An addictive personality is normally characterized by a number of addictions, and relapse into the use of drugs after rehabilitation (Mork 1).

Wadsworth,Patrick M. O'Malley,Lloyd D. Johnston,John E. Schulenberg,2013-06-17 Why do some young adults substantially change their patterns of smoking drinking or illicit drug use after graduating from high school In this book the authors show that leaving high school and leaving home create new freedoms that are linked to increases in the use of cigarettes alcohol marijuana and cocaine They also show that marriage pregnancy and parenthood create new responsibilities that are linked to decreases in drug use The research is based on more than 33 000 young people followed from high school through young adulthood by the nationwide Monitoring the Future project Every two years participants reported on their drug use as well as their schooling employment military service living arrangements marriages pregnancies parenthood and even their divorces

The unique qualities of this research large nationally representative samples follow ups extending up to 14 years beyond high school and multiple approaches to analysis and data presentation allowed the examination of several important influences simultaneously while retaining much of the rich detail encountered in the real world On the whole the results are encouraging suggesting that the potentials for change and improvement during the transition to adulthood are as important as the detrimental effects of problem behavior in adolescence This research is a must read for anyone concerned with how new freedoms and responsibilities impact adolescents young adults and the use of licit and illicit drugs Monthly Catalog of United States Government Publications United States.
