

Position Paper

The position paper format that will be used in this simulation will have 5 parts: the heading; introductory paragraph explaining the topic you are debating; how your country is affected or not by the problem; the solutions that have been used to solve the problems and the ones your delegation propose; and finally the sources where you got all the information. The position paper has to be no longer than one page and a half with Arial 12 and 1.5 spacing.

The Heading

Different models use different types of heading, but the one that you will use is the following:

Committee: (You should put the name of your committee, no abbreviations)

Country: (The country you are representing)

Topic: (The complete topic you are adjourning. For example, if you are discussing Health Care in the Conflict Zones of the Middle East, you have to write the complete name of the topic and not Health in the Middle East)

Delegate: (Your complete name)

School: (Your school's complete name)

Introductory paragraph

Here is where you will briefly explain what the problem is in general terms. This will help everyone in the committee understand the topic they will discuss during the sessions. You can write definitions, statistics or anything you think will help everyone get the context of the situation, but this paragraph cannot be too long.

Your country's relation with the topic

In this paragraph you will have to give arguments of how the topic of the committees is affecting or not affecting your country. Include the policies or laws your country has about the problem and its reason to or not to have them. You can write a phrase a leader from the country you are representing said, but only if it has to do with the topic. Statistics can be used to back up your country's laws or reasons. Use anything you think is necessary to explain how your country is involved in the committee's topic, this are a few examples.

Solutions

The final paragraph is where you state the solutions your delegations or the United Nations have made and the solutions your country is proposing. Explain how your delegation is planning to accomplish those solutions and say how your delegation is considering financing it.

The sources

You should enlist all the websites, books, magazines or any other source you used to make your position paper, using MLA or APA format.

Author(s) (Last name, first name). "Article name". Publication date. <URL> The date you consulted it.

The Insanity Defense: American Developments Jane Moriarty, 2014-04-04 Whether the accused is competent to stand trial, whether the plaintiff is competent to accuse, or whether a witness is competent to testify has had a long legal history. Such questions draw legal reasoning into areas of ethical reflection and scientific debate deeply rooted in the moral history of the United States. Mental competence has come to play a central and controversial role in proving guilt and in evaluating the severity of a crime and its corresponding punishment. This compendium brings together the major legal precedents and legal commentaries that have defined the role of mental illness in criminal trials throughout U.S. history. The reprint collection considers among other issues the evolution of the Supreme Court's position on the insanity defense and mental retardation, how these affect one's competency to stand trial or be executed, and how these affect culpability and punishment. Each volume begins with an introductory essay and includes both cases and commentary. Scholars as well as students will find these volumes a useful research tool.

Multiculturalism as a fourth force Paul Pedersen, 2013-10-28 Until recently the field of psychology has been a monocultural science in a Euro American envelope. Profound global changes in social, economic, political, and academic development have resulted in a more multicultural perspective for psychology. The field of psychology is now growing more rapidly outside than inside the U.S. As a result of these changes, multiculturalism adds a dimension to psychodynamic, humanistic, and behavioral psychology as much as the fourth dimension of time adds meaning to three dimensional spaces. The contributors to Multiculturalism as a Fourth Force seek to separate what we know from what we do not yet know about the importance of multiculturalism to these changes in the field of psychology. Topics include cultural diversity within and between societies, multiculturalism and psychotherapy, and culture centered interventions. Each contributor describes the need for multiculturalism in psychology, the difficulties in establishing a multicultural perspective, and what has to happen before multiculturalism can claim to be a Fourth Force to supplement the other forces for psychology. In addition, the contributors examine the role of culture to the changing field of psychology and provide case examples of this phenomenon It is the author s hope that by making culture central rather than marginal in the area of psychology the psychodynamic behavioral and humanistic theories can become more effective and less culturally biased
