Report Fraudulent Email Missouri:

The Cryptocurrency and Digital Asset Fraud Casebook, Volume III Jason Scharfman, 2025-05-26 Cryptocurrencies and digital assets have continued to gain widespread acceptance from both retail and institutional investors. Alongside this rapid growth, the digital ecosystem remains plagued by bad actors who prey on the space. These range from state-sponsored North Korean hacker groups, Russian ransomware gangs, multinational organized criminal enterprises, to lower-level Chinese gangsters and run-of-the-mill romance scammers. These criminals indiscriminately target victims across all demographics. Furthermore, cryptocurrency-related scams continue to present increasingly significant threats to institutions and national security. Since the publication of The Cryptocurrency and Digital Asset Fraud Casebook volumes I and II, scammers have only intensified the sophistication and scope of their attacks. This evolving threat landscape, coupled with a rapidly changing regulatory environment, underscores the ongoing need for up-to-date information and analysis. The Cryptocurrency and Digital Asset Fraud Casebook Volume III: Exchange Hacks, Deepfakes, Social Media, and Artificial Intelligence Scams is essential reading for anyone seeking the latest insights into fraudulent activity within the cryptocurrency and digital asset space. Benn's Media, 2004. Spam and Internet Privacy Marcia S. Smith, B. G. Kutais, 2007. The issues covered in this book cannot be called hot issues but instead must be called boiling issues. Who except the senders of this dangerous and ever more sophisticated material is not attacked everyday? What laws protect us if any? What is being done about it if anything? This book presents the latest progress on these issues, which rate extremely high on everyone's list of concerns.

House of Commons - Home Affairs Committee: E-Crime - HC 70 Great Britain. Parliament. House of Commons. Home Affairs Committee, 2013. The threat of a cyber attack to the UK is so serious it is marked as a higher threat than a nuclear attack. One can steal more on the internet than they can by robbing a bank, and online criminals in 25 countries have chosen the UK as their number one target. Astonishingly, some are operating from EU countries. If we don't have a 21st century response to this 21st century crime, we will be letting those involved in these gangs off the hook. After a 10-month inquiry, the Committee concluded that a dedicated state-of-the-art espionage response team should be established so that attacks can be immediately reported. Banks must be required to report all e-crime fraud to law enforcement; it is alarmed that CEOP is having its budget cut by 10% over 4 years, its experienced Chief Executive is leaving, and it could lose its laser-like focus when merged with the National Crime Agency. It is still too easy for people to access inappropriate online content, and those responsible need to take stronger action to remove such content. The Government should draw up a mandatory code of conduct with them to remove material which breaches acceptable standards. The DPP should review sentencing guidance and ensure e-criminals receive the same.

sentences as if they had stolen the same amount of money or data offline the Government should look at setting up a similar organisation to the Internet Watch Foundation focused on reporting and removing online terrorist content

The United States Government Manual United States. Office of the Federal Register, 2012 African Data Protection Laws Raymond Atuguba Akongburo, Patricia Boshe, Sena Afua Dei-Tutu, Moritz Hennemann, 2024-05-06 For the last two decades data protection regulatory models in the African continent were highly inspired by foreign ones mostly by the European Union's models. Recently regulatory diversions can be spotted reaching from stricter regulation on data sovereignty and data localisation to hybrid data protection and data governance approaches. Against this background, this volume presents the proceedings of the conference on African Data Protection Laws Regulation Policy and Practice held in Accra, Ghana, in 2022. The contributions undertake deep dives into the data protection and data governance development on the African continent, providing insights by distinguished scholars and experts in the field and tackling current trends, laws, regulations, and policies. The contributions narrate the unique African journey and lay the ground for interdisciplinary informed policy decisions, guide stakeholders, and also provoke future research towards a potential Pan-African data protection governance framework in Africa.
