Respond And Acclaim 2015:

Configurations of Migration Jennifer Leetsch, Frederike Middelhoff, Miriam Wallraven, 2023-10-24 In a global context in which phenomena of migration play an ever more important role the ways individual and collective experiences of migration are covered in the media represented in culture and interpreted are coming under increasing scrutiny This book explores the complex relationship between creative engagements with migration on the one hand and forms of knowledge about migration on the other inquiring into the ways aesthetic practices are intertwined with knowledge structures The book responds to three pressing research questions First it analyses how fictional texts plays images films and autobiographical accounts mediate forms of knowledge about migration Second it identifies the ways in which specific media approaches and aesthetic practices influence people s ideas about and awareness of migratory experiences in a globalized world Finally it delineates how historical perspectives help us compare epistemological approaches to migration in the nineteenth twentieth and early twenty first centuries and how these approaches affect the way critics and the public responded to and thought about different forms of forced migration Bringing together renowned scholars working across disciplines it investigates the possibilities and limitations that different media present when it comes to reflecting on communicating and imagining experiences of migration and how these representations in turn create ways of knowing and understanding migration

Responding to Call of Duty Nate Garrelts, Matthew Wilhelm Kapell, 2017-10-12 Call of Duty is one of the most culturally significant video game franchises of the 21st century Since the first game was released for PC in 2003 the first person shooter has sold over 250 million copies across a range of platforms along with merchandise ranging from toys and comic books to a special edition Jeep Wrangler Top players can compete for millions in prize money in tournaments sanctioned by the Call of Duty World League While the gaming community has reported on and debated each development Call of Duty has received little scholarly attention This collection of new essays examines the ideologically charged campaign mode of major franchise releases with a special focus on militarism realism and gender McGraw-Hill Education ACT, 2015 Edition Steven W. Walicek, Jessica Adams, 2018-01-30 This book explores the humanities as an insightful platform for understanding and responding to the military prison at Guantánamo Bay other manifestations of Guantánamo and the contested place of freedom in American Empire It presents the work of scholars and writers based in Cuba's Guantánamo Province and various parts of the US Its essays short stories poetry and other texts engage the far reaching meaning and significance of Gitmo by bringing together what happens on the US side of the fence or la cerca as it is called in Cuba with perspectives from the outside world Chapters include critiques of artistic renderings of the Guantánamo region historical narratives contemplating the significance of freedom analyses of the ways the base and region inform the Cuban imaginary and fiction and poetry published for the first time in English Not simply a critique of imperialism this volume presents politically engaged commentary that suggests a way forward for a site of global contact and conflict Archiving Creole Voices Marl'ene Edwin, 2024-12-20 Archiving Creole Voices Representations of Language and Culture begins with a re-reading of selected texts by female Caribbean writers specifically Joan Anim Addo Olive Senior and Merle Collins and proclaims that literary fiction can and does function as a creolised archive Marl'ene Edwin argues that historic marginalisation which has barred Caribbean scholars from entering formal archival spaces has created an alternative discourse Consequently Caribbean writers have chosen the imagined landscapes of literature a new archival space for the Caribbean within which to document and preserve Caribbean cultural traditions Fiction allows for the safeguarding of traditions so how then should Caribbean literature be read The combination of a physical and a virtual archive questions the literary and linguistic interface that such a mingling entails in a preservation of Caribbean culture Edwin argues for an appreciation of orality as performance as well as the reading of texts as creolised archive Relational Responses to

Trauma in Twenty-First-Century French and Spanish Women's Writing Hannie Lawlor, 2024-08-28 Relational Responses to Trauma in Twenty First Century French and Spanish Women s Writing offers new insight into what it means to write relational lives It broadens the parameters of existing discussions in terms of geography as well as genre drawing together two literatures whose prominence in life writing theory to date could hardly be more different while French women s writing has long been at the centre of international discussions of autobiography the relative invisibility of Spanish women s writing remains striking The dialogue that thus underpins this study between diverse twenty first century case studies and broader approaches to life writing shines a light on what is gained from inviting different voices into the discussion These narrative projects challenge longstanding critical assumptions in autobiography studies and trauma theory about how writers can and should represent the multiple perspectives that are at the heart of intergenerational stories In exploring the narrative solutions that these texts propose in response to the ethical questions they navigate this book shows that writing relational lives rests on far more than the mere recounting of a shared history Relating in these texts it proposes is an act embedded in the telling of the story It is a mode of testifying together to traumatic experience one that reveals a powerful preoccupation in contemporary women s life writing practice with making more audible the many voices and versions that go unheard

The Heart in Rheumatic, Autoimmune and Inflammatory Diseases Udi Nussinovitch, 2017-02-10 The prevalence of autoimmune diseases and rheumatic conditions is constantly increasing Autoimmune diseases affect approximately 7 10% of the population of the United States while more than 50 000 000 American adults suffer from some type of arthritis The Heart in Rheumatic Autoimmune and Inflammatory Diseases examines the complex mechanisms relating to cardiac diseases from a pathophysiological and clinical point of view Autoimmune rheumatic diseases can affect the coronary vessels myocardium pericardium heart valves and the conduction system The diagnosis of these unique cardiac complications necessitates medical awareness and a high index of suspicion Increased risk of advanced atherosclerosis plays a pivotal role in the development of cardiac diseases in systemic rheumatic and autoimmune illnesses Yet other complex immune mediated mechanisms may contribute to the pathogenesis Patients optimal care requires coordination between the primary caregiver the rheumatologist immunologist and cardiologist Screening for cardiovascular risk factors recognition of high risk patients and identification of subclinical cardiac conditions are of great importance Moreover regulation of inflammation as well as abnormal immune responses and the initiation of early treatments should be the focus of patient management A continuous attempt to identify novel therapeutic targets and change the natural history of the underlying disease and its cardiac manifestations is in progress The book aims at providing the readers with a state of the art collection of up to date information regarding clinically important topics based on experts perspectives This book was a result of an extended coordinated collaboration of one hundred and fifty four distinguished scientists from thirty one countries around the globe A review of common as well as unusual yet clinically significant medical cardiac complications of prevalent rheumatic autoimmune and inflammatory diseases Focuses on aspects of pathophysiological processes clinical presentations screening tests prognostic implications and novel therapeutic approaches Presents an up to date level of evidence and strengths of recommendations for suggested therapies and reviews all randomized clinical trials meta analyses and other supporting published clinical findings

The Palgrave Handbook of Artistic and Cultural Responses to War since 1914 Martin Kerby, Margaret Baguley, Janet McDonald, 2018-12-05 This handbook explores a diverse range of artistic and cultural responses to modern conflict from Mons in the First World War to Kabul in the twenty first century With over thirty chapters from an international range of contributors ranging from the UK to the US and Australia and working across history art literature and media it offers a significant interdisciplinary contribution to the study of modern war and our artistic and cultural responses to it The handbook is divided into three parts The first part explores how communities and individuals responded to loss and grief by using art and culture to assimilate the experience as an act of survival and resilience The second part explores how conflict exerts a powerful influence on the expression and formation of both individual group racial cultural and national identities and the role played by art literature and education in this process The third part moves beyond the actual experience of conflict and its connection with issues of identity to explore how individuals and society have made use of art and culture to commemorate the war In this way it offers a unique breadth of vision and perspective to explore how conflicts have been both represented and remembered since the early twentieth century

Small Farmers for Global Food Security Thomas Reuter, Graeme MacRae, 2024-04-05 Food systems in Indonesia and worldwide have experienced major transformations in the wake of agricultural modernisation. Once intact eco systems have declined dramatically along with human diets, long term food security and social cohesion. Using long term ethnographic research we documented this loss of traditional food systems in Java, Bali, East Timor and India but also a recent revival and reinvention of sustainable production methods and community based distribution systems. A growing movement of small farmers now reject the dominant paradigm of aggressive capitalist development and are re-creating food systems based on moral ecology, a new concept we introduce to characterise food systems that regenerate the natural environment and serve the common good rather than maximise profit. Small farmers like these already feed two thirds of humanity using only a third of agricultural land. With proper support we argue they could feed the entire world using sustainable and socially responsible approaches to eradicate world hunger.

The SAGE Handbook of Media and Migration Kevin Smets, Koen Leurs, Myria Georgiou, Saskia Witteborn, Radhika Gajjala, 2019-10-31 Migration moves people, ideas and things. Migration shakes up political scenes and instigates new social movements. It redraws emotional landscapes and reshapes social networks with traditional and digital media, enabling, representing and shaping the processes, relationships and people on the move. The deep entanglement of media and migration expands across the fields of political, cultural and social life. For example, migration is increasingly digitally tracked and surveilled and national and international policy making draws on data on migrant movement, anticipated movement and biometrics to maintain a sense of control over the mobilities of humans and things. Also, social imaginaries are constituted in highly mediated environments where information and emotions on migration are constantly shared on social and traditional media. Both those migrating and those receiving them turn to media and communicative practices to learn how to make sense of migration and to manage fears and desires associated with cross border mobility in an increasingly porous but also controlled and divided world. The SAGE Handbook of Media and Migration offers a comprehensive overview of media and migration through new research as well as a review of present scholarship in this expanding and promising field. It explores key interdisciplinary concepts and methodologies and how these are challenged by new realities and the links between contemporary migration patterns and its use of mediated processes. Although primarily grounded in media and communication studies, the Handbook builds on research in the fields of sociology, anthropology, political science, urban studies, science and technology studies, human rights, development studies and gender and sexuality studies to bring to the forefront key theories, concepts and methodological approaches to the study of the movement of people. In seven parts, the Handbook dissects important areas of cross disciplinary and generational discourse for graduate students, early career researchers, migration management practitioners and academics in the fields of media and migration studies, international development, communication studies and the wider

Garforth, 2018-03-15 Environmentalism has relentlessly warned about the dire consequences of abusing and exploiting the planet's natural resources imagining future wastelands of ecological depletion and social chaos But it has also generated rich new ideas about how humans might live better with nature Green Utopias explores these ideas of environmental hope in the post war period from the environmental crisis to the end of nature Using a broad definition of Utopia as it exists in Western policy theory and literature Lisa Garforth explains how its developing entanglement with popular culture and mainstream politics has shaped successive green future visions and initiatives In the face of apocalyptic despairing or indifferent responses to contemporary ecological dilemmas utopias and the utopian method seem more necessary than ever This distinctive reading of green political thought and culture will appeal across the social sciences and humanities to all interested in why green utopias continue to matter in the cultivation of ecological values and the emergence of new forms of human and non human well being Invisible Digital Aylish Wood, 2024-01-11 Invisible Digital helps us makes sense of something we cannot see by presenting an innovative approach to digital images and digital culture At its heart is a novel method for exploring software used in the creation of moving images as markers of converging cultural organizational and technological influences The three main case studies of Invisible Digital are the animated feature Moana 2016 and the computer games No Man's Sky 2016 and Everything 2017 All three were created using procedural techniques simulation software for Moana and procedural content generation for No Man's Sky and Everything Production culture disclosures associated with procedural techniques often emphasize the influences of automated systems and their algorithms making them ideal for a study that interrogates digital processes The approach of Invisible Digital is informed by relational theories and the concept of entanglement based on materialist perspectives combined with insights from work that more explicitly interrogates algorithms and algorithmic culture Aylish Wood employs the notion of assemblages to introduce the concept of material cultural narratives Using this conceptual framework she draws out material cultural narratives for each case study to demonstrate what they reveal about software and digital culture These analyses of software provide a widely applicable method through which moving image studies can contribute more fully to the wider and growing debates about algorithmic culture How the EU and Russia Narrate the World Mario Baumann, 2025-07-25 In times of increasing challenges to the Western idea this book illuminates how Russian and EU foreign policy discourses interact While official Russian and EU articulations on issues of sovereignty human rights and the shared neighbourhood diverge greatly they are not articulated in isolation but are entangled and condition each other To understand this entanglement this book approaches the relationship between Russia and the EU as an intersubjective one a social context where diverging interpretations of the world struggle for hegemony Its theoretical framework marries poststructuralist thought with insights from critical approaches to Hegelian recognition dialectics Based on an extensive and systematic empirical discourse analysis of Russian and EU foreign policy texts this study draws a detailed picture of the intensifying discursive dynamics accompanying the deteriorating relationship between Brussels and Moscow It shows how neither the EU s nor Russia s foreign policy articulation has changed substantially The interaction pattern continues to be an asymmetrical one with Russia s articulations much more conditioned by the EU s discourse than vice versa The book thus argues that the EU is more independent in sovereignly articulating an interpretation of the world whereas Russia continues to face constraints in the formulation of an autonomous political project With its novel and innovative conceptual framework this book furthers the theoretical scholarship on poststructuralism in international relations It addresses all scholars interested in poststructuralist enquiries and will be of great value to students and scholars of Russian foreign policy and the EU

Adversarial Political Interviewing Ofer Feldman,2022-05-26 This book presents a collection of studies on political interviews in a variety of broadcast media worldwide Following the growing scholarly interest in media talk as a dominant form of political communication in contemporary society a number of eminent international scholars analyze empirical material from the discourse of public figures and interviewer journalists to address questions related to the characteristics conduct and potential effects of political interviews Chapters span a varied array of cultural contexts the U S A U K Israel Japan Italy Turkey Greece Australia Philippines Finland Brazil Malaysia Spain Venezuela Montenegro and the European Community enabling a comparison of the different structures and contents of political interviews in societies from West to East Authors bring an interest in discourse and conversation analysis as well as in rhetorical techniques and strategies used by both interviewers and interviewees from different disciplinary viewpoints including linguistic political cultural sociological and social psychological In doing so the book develops a framework to assess the extent to which media political interviews and talk shows and regular news programs play a central role in transmitting accurate and genuine political information to the general public and how audiences can make sense of these programs output
