

Ned Kelly's Armour Craft Activity

Illustration of Ned Kelly's armor and various craft materials like scissors, glue, and cardboard.

The Helmet

Ned Kelly's helmet is often thought of as a simple tin can, but it was actually a complex piece of armor made from a combination of materials. The helmet was made from a combination of materials, including a tin can, and was reinforced with layers of padding and leather. The helmet was also decorated with a band and a small opening for the eyes.

Instructions

1. Take one of the three cans and cut it in half to create two equal parts. You will need one for the helmet.
2. Cut the cardboard lengthwise so that it is half the width of the can.
3. Glue the cardboard to the inside of the can, making sure it is secure and covers the entire interior.
4. Glue the cardboard to the outside of the can, making sure it is secure and covers the entire exterior.
5. Glue the cardboard to the top of the can, making sure it is secure and covers the entire top.

The Shoulder Plates

Ned Kelly's armor featured two shoulder plates. The right one was a simple flat plate, while the left one was slightly curved and shaped to fit over a curved shoulder. The plates were made from a combination of materials, including a tin can, and were reinforced with layers of padding and leather. The plates were also decorated with a band and a small opening for the eyes.

Instructions

1. Take the second can and cut it in half to create two equal parts. You will need one for the helmet.
2. Cut the cardboard lengthwise so that it is half the width of the can.
3. Glue the cardboard to the inside of the can, making sure it is secure and covers the entire interior.
4. Glue the cardboard to the outside of the can, making sure it is secure and covers the entire exterior.
5. Glue the cardboard to the top of the can, making sure it is secure and covers the entire top.

The Finishing Touches

The final piece of the armor is the belt. The belt was made from a combination of materials, including a tin can, and was reinforced with layers of padding and leather. The belt was also decorated with a band and a small opening for the eyes.

Instructions

1. Take the third can and cut it in half to create two equal parts. You will need one for the helmet.
2. Cut the cardboard lengthwise so that it is half the width of the can.
3. Glue the cardboard to the inside of the can, making sure it is secure and covers the entire interior.
4. Glue the cardboard to the outside of the can, making sure it is secure and covers the entire exterior.
