Journal of the National Cancer Institute, 1965 Carrier Scattering in Metals and Semiconductors V.F.

Gantmakher, Y.B. Levinson, 2012-12-02 The transport properties of solids as well as the many optical phenomena in them are determined by the scattering of current carriers Carrier Scattering in Metals and Semiconductors elucidates the state of the art in the research on the scattering mechanisms for current carriers in metals and semiconductors and describes experiments in which these mechanisms are most dramatically manifested The selection and organization of the material is in a form to prepare the reader to reason independently and to deal just as independently with available theoretical results and experimental data The subjects dealt with include electronic transport theory based on the test particle and correlation function concepts scattering by phonons impurities surfaces magnons dislocations electron-electron scattering and electron-temperature two-phonon scattering spin flip scattering scattering in degenerate and many band models Physics of Radiation Effects in Crystals R.A. Johnson, A.N. Orlov, 2012-12-02 Physics of Radiation Effects in Crystals is presented in two parts The first part covers the general background and theory of radiation effects in crystals including the theory describing the generation of crystal lattice defects by radiation the kinetic approach to the study of the disposition of these defects and the effects of the diffusion of these defects on alloy compositions and phases Specific problems of current interest are treated in the second part and include anisotropic dimensional changes in uranium zirconium and graphite acceleration of thermal creep in reactor materials and radiation damage of semiconductors and superconductors The Other Canon of Economics,

Volume 1 Erik Reinert, 2024-02-13 Other Canon Economics Essays in the Theory and History of Uneven Economic Development brings together key essays on development economics from one of the most prolific and important development economists and historians of economic policy today Erik S Reinert argues through essays ranging from 1994 to 2020 that neo-classical economics damages developing countries the theory of comparative advantage leaves out a number of factors which make economic activities qualitatively different as carriers of economic growth Based on a long intellectual tradition started by the Italian economists Giovanni Botero 1589 and Antonio Serra 1613 and later used in virtually all presently industrialised countries Reinert shows that the country which exports increasing returns goods e.g. high end manufacture has advantages over the country which exports diminishing returns goods e.g. commodities This has important implications for today's development strategies that Reinert argues should be seen as industrial strategies Catalog of Copyright Entries. Third Series Library of Congress.
