Vocabulary: absorption spectrum, binary star, blueshift, Cepheid variable, emission spectrum, giant star, nebula, redshift, spectrum, star

Prior Knowledge Questions (Do these BEFORE using the Gizmo.)

1. What happens when light goes through a prism? _____
This band of colors is called a spectrum.
2. A rainbow is an example of a spectrum. What is the sequence of colors in a rainbow? _____

Gizmo Warm-up

The interior of a star produces a continuous spectrum of light, like a rainbow. Cooler gases in the outer layers of the star absorb certain wavelengths of light, causing dark lines to appear in the spectrum. The resulting absorption spectrum can tell astronomers a great deal about the star.

1. On the Star Spectra Gizmo™, turn on Show labels. Select star 1 to see its absorption spectrum. How many lines do you see in the spectrum? _____
2. Drag the Hydrogen spectrum next to the Star spectrum so that the edges line up. Do some of the lines on the two spectra match up? _____
3. Drag the Helium spectrum next to the Star spectrum. Do some lines match? _____
4. Try out the other available spectra. Do any others have lines that match? _____
5. Which elements have contributed to the spectrum of star 1? _____

Note: The elements in a star's spectrum do not necessarily reflect what the star is made of. The absorption spectrum is mostly determined by the surface temperature of the star.

Activity A: Classifying stars

Get the Gizmo ready: Check that Show labels is on and Neutral spectra is selected.

Question: How are stars classified?

Introduction: Late in the 19th century, Harvard astronomer Edward Pickering wanted to sort and catalog the thousands of star spectra that had been collected by the Harvard Observatory. He hired several women to do the work, paying them 25 cents a day. The most prominent of these women was Annie Jump Cannon, who devised a classification system still used today.

Harvard Classification Scheme
Class	Color	Prominent spectral lines	Surface Temp. (K)
O	Blue	Ionized helium, hydrogen	> 25,000
B	Blue-white	Neutral helium, hydrogen	11,000 – 25,000
A	White	Hydrogen, ionized sodium, ionized calcium	7,500 – 11,000
F	White	Hydrogen, ionized sodium and calcium; neutral sodium and calcium	6,000 – 7,500
G	Yellow	Neutral sodium and calcium, ionized calcium, ionized iron, ionized magnesium	5,000 – 6,000
K	Orange	Neutral calcium, neutral iron, neutral magnesium	3,500 – 5,000
M	Red	Neutral iron, neutral magnesium, and neutral titanium oxide (not shown)	< 3,500

Benavides-Piccione,2016-02-03 One fundamental requisite for a comprehensive view on brain function and cognition is the understanding of the neuronal network activity of the brain Neurons are organized into complex networks interconnected through synapses The main sites for excitatory synapses in the brain are thin protrusions called dendritic spines that emerge from dendrites Dendritic spines have a distinct morphology with a specific molecular organization They are considered as subcellular compartments that constrain diffusion and influence signal processing by the neuron and hence spines are functional integrative units for which morphology and function are tightly coupled The density of spines along the dendrite reflects the levels of connectivity within the neuronal network Furthermore the relevance of studying dendritic spines is emphasized by the observation that their morphology changes with synaptic plasticity and is altered in many psychiatric disorders The present Research Topic deals with some of the most recent findings concerning dendritic spine structure and function showing that in order to understand how brain neuronal activity operates these two factors should be regarded as being intrinsically linked Management Christopher P. No Fly Zones and International Security Stephen Wragge, Scott Cooper, 2019-03-14 This book discusses the practice of no fly zones in international affairs The first no fly zone was imposed over northern Iraq immediately after the first Gulf War and since then they have become a regular recourse for policymakers confronted with humanitarian crises They have come to be viewed as a feasible essentially non-violent form of intervention that can be performed entirely from the air in a situation where some form of action is widely thought to be necessary but the political will for a ground operation is insufficient Nonetheless even among policy makers there is limited understanding of the requirements the shortcomings and the potentialities of no fly zones This is the first comprehensive work on this topic and examines the assumptions surrounding no fly zones by focusing on issues such as authority cost possibility of escalation and effectiveness Looking back at 25 years of experience with no fly zones the book's goal is to look at what historical lessons may be drawn and to make some predictions with regard to the politics and strategy of no fly zones in the future This book will be of much interest to students of air power security studies Middle Eastern Studies and IR in general
