SCIENCE AND EMPIRES FROM THE INTERNATIONAL COLLOQUIUM TO THE BOOK Patrick PETITJEAN Catherine JAMI and Anne Marie MOULIN

The International Colloquium Science and Empires Historical Studies about Scientific Development and European Expansion is the product of an International Colloquium Sciences and Empires A Comparative History of Scientific Exchanges European Expansion and Scientific Development in Asian African American and Oceanian Countries Organized by the REHSEIS group Research on Epistemology and History of Exact Sciences and Scientific Institutions of CNRS National Center for Scientific Research the colloquium was held from 3 to 6 April 1990 in the UNESCO building in Paris This colloquium was an idea of Professor Roshdi Rashed who initiated this field of studies in France some years ago and proposed Sciences and Empires as one of the main research programmes for the The project to organize such a colloquium was a bit REHSEIS group of a gamble Its subject reflected in the title Sciences and Empires is not a currently accepted sub discipline of the history of science rather it refers to a set of questions which found autonomy only recently The terminology was strongly debated by the participants and as is frequently suggested in this book awaits fuller clarification

Relocating Modern Science challenges the belief that modern science was created uniquely in the West and was subsequently diffused elsewhere Through a detailed analysis of key moments in the history of science it demonstrates the crucial roles of circulation and intercultural encounter for their emergence

Nationalism and Internationalism in Science, 1880-1939 Elisabeth Crawford, 2002-07-04

This book examines the upsurge of nationalism among scientists of warring nations during and after World War I

Global Epistemologies and Philosophies of Science David Ludwig, Inkeri Koskinen, Zinhle Mncube, Luana Poliseli, Luis Reyes-Galindo, 2021-07-29

In bringing together a global community of philosophers Global Epistemologies and Philosophies of Science develops novel perspectives on epistemology and philosophy of science by demonstrating how frameworks from academic philosophy e.g standpoint theory social epistemology feminist philosophy of science and related fields e.g decolonial studies transdisciplinarity global history of science can contribute to critical engagement with global dimensions of knowledge and science Global challenges such as climate change food production and infectious diseases raise complex questions about scientific knowledge production and its interactions with local knowledge systems and social realities As academic philosophy provides relatively little reflection on global negotiations of knowledge many pressing scientific and societal issues remain disconnected from core debates in epistemology and philosophy of science This book is an invitation to broaden agendas of academic philosophy by presenting epistemology and philosophy of science as globally engaged fields that address heterogeneous forms of knowledge production and their interactions with local livelihoods practices and worldviews This integrative ambition makes the book equally relevant for philosophers and interdisciplinary scholars who are concerned with methodological and political challenges at the intersection of science and society

An Empire on Display Peter H. Hoffenberg, 2001 The exhibitions of the Victorian and Edwardian eras are the lens through which this book examines the economic cultural and social forces that helped define Britain and the Empire It focuses on exhibitions in England Australia and India from the Great Exhibition to the Festival of Empire

Western Science in Modern India Pratik Chakrabarti, 2004 The Book Is About Western Science In A Colonial World It Asks How Do We Understand The Transfer And Absorption Of Scientific Knowledge Across Diverse Cultures From One Society To Another This Monograph Will Interest Scientists Historians And Sociologists As Well As Students Of Imperialism And The History Of Ideas

Signs of Science Dale J. Pratt, 2001 Signs of Science Literature Science and Spanish Modernity since 1868 traces how Spanish culture represented scientific activity from the mid nineteenth century onward The book combines the global perspective afforded by historical narrative with detailed rhetorical analyses of images of science in specific literary and scientific texts As literary criticism it seeks to illuminate similarities and differences in how science and scientists are pictured as cultural history it follows the course of a centuries long dialogue about Spain and science

Science, War and Imperialism Jagdish Sinha, 2008-05-31 Why could not the Second World War catalyse science in India as it did in the West This is one of the central questions of this volume on the British policy towards science and technology in India Its focus is on education research innovation and organisation of science in such sectors as industry agriculture public health and transport and communications In the process the author comes across revealing developments where science played a crucial role an Anglo American tussle for dominance in the region the clash between capitalism and socialism and the entry of neo colonialism triggering Cold War in Asia Many faces of humanity and science are on view British scientists concerned about India s development and Indian scientists planning for national reconstruction Of interest to all those aiming for a better understanding of the impact of science war and international influences on the socio economic progress in India or other erstwhile colonies

Green Imperialism Richard H. Grove, 1996-03-29 The first book to document the origins and early history of environmentalism especially its colonial and global aspects

Unmasking Ideology in Imperial and Colonial Archaeology Bonnie Effros, Guolong Lai, 2018-12-31 This volume addresses the entanglement between archaeology imperialism colonialism capitalism and war Popular sentiment in the West has tended to embrace the adventure rather than ponder the legacy of archaeological explorers allegations by imperial powers of discovering archaeological sites or saving world heritage from neglect or destruction have often provided the pretext for expanding political influence Consequently citizens have often fallen victim to the imperial war machine seeing their lands confiscated their artifacts looted and the ancient remains in their midst commercialized Spanning the globe with case studies from East Asia Siberia Australia North and South America Europe and Africa sixteen contributions written by archaeologists art historians and historians from four continents offer unusual breadth and depth in the assessment of various claims to patrimonial heritage contextualized by the imperial and colonial ventures of the last two centuries and their postcolonial legacy History of Science in Latin America: The Construction of an Intellectual Field (20th century) María de la Paz Ramos-Lara, Luis Carlos Arboleda, 2024-12-23 This book provides a unique analysis of how the History of Science became institutionalized in Latin America during the last two decades of the 20th century It examines the establishment of the first Latin American community in the History of Science and its connections with the international community and various international institutions such as the International Union of History and Philosophy of Science and Technology Division of History of Science and Technology IUHPST DHST The authors are the same scholars who have been involved in several activities and strategies to professionalize and institutionalize this field in Latin America They explore the impact of Western educational institutions and theoretical and methodological perspectives on the introduction of the History of Science in several Latin American nations The book examines the two way movement of European scholars to Latin America and Latin American students mainly to France At that time the organization of congresses in France Spain the United States and other European countries encouraged the participation of Latin American historians of science Notable events include the Science and Empires congress in Paris 1990 the Ciencia descubrimiento y mundo colonial conference in Madrid 1991 and the International Congresses of History of Science and Technology ICHST The authors refer to seven Latin Americans who signed the Declaration of Bucharest 1981 to promote the history of sciences in their countries This initiative led to the establishment of the Latin American Society for the History of Science and Technology LASHST in 1982 under the leadership of Juan Jos Salda a director of Quipu and Cuadernos de Quipu With his leadership existing national societies were reactivated and new ones were created up to ten in four years Argentina Brazil Colombia Mexico Chile Peru Venezuela Costa Rica Ecuador and Cuba This effort internationally legitimized Latin American scientific practice culminating in celebrating the XXI ICHST in Mexico City in 2001 He founded the International Association for Scientific Cultural Diversity IASCUD and became the first Latin American to serve as Secretary General of IUHPST DHS from 2001 to 2005 Through his various actions and activities Salda a and the LASHST community were able to promote the institutionalization of the History of Science in Latin America This book pays a well deserved tribute to his efforts Sickness and the State Lenore Manderson, 1996 This 1996 book is a history of health and disease in Malaya from colonisation to World War II Raja Serfoji II Savithri Preetha Nair, 2014-03-14 In the early nineteenth century the south Indian kingdom of Tanjore which had come under the control of the East India Company flourished as a centre of enlightenment This book traces the contours of the Tanjore enlightenment which produced a knowledge that was at once modern and deeply rooted in the indigenous tradition The chief protagonist of this first ever full length study on Tanjore at the turn of the nineteenth century is Raja Serfoji II r 1798 1832 in whose world science and God coexisted comfortably Tanjore at this time was a thriving contact zone linked to several centres through extensive local and global networks Its court attracted a great number of visitors including Christian missionaries high ranking Company officials princely contemporaries naturalists and medical practitioners Dwelling on the locatedness of science and enlightenment modernity in the context of the colonial periphery the book describes how the Raja deployed certain vectors of assemblage an array of practices instruments theories and people including his vast collection of manuscripts books and scientific instruments a Devanagari printing press a menagerie health establishments and a large retinue of trained experts and artists to invent Tanjore as a contemporary centre Shunning reductionist and diffusionist explanations of the transmission of Western science in colonial settings the study uses hitherto unexplored archival sources to reconstruct the Tanjore enlightenment as the outcome of globally situated cross cultural exchanges It celebrates the openness and confidence with which European science was engaged with assimilated translated and reinvented in a contact zone located in the colonial backwaters of south India The book will be of interest to historians sociologists and those interested in history of science and medicine anthropologists cultural studies scholars as well as the general reader Photography, Natural History and the Nineteenth-Century Museum Kathleen Davidson, 2017-12-02 The Victorian era heralded an age of transformation in which momentous changes in the field of natural history coincided with the rise of new visual technologies Concurrently different parts of the British Empire began to more actively claim their right to being acknowledged as indispensable contributors to knowledge and the progress of empire This book addresses the complex relationship between natural history and photography from the 1850s to the 1880s in Britain and its colonies Australia New Zealand and to a lesser extent India Coinciding with the rise of the modern museum photography's arrival was timely and it rapidly became an essential technology for recording and publicising rare objects and valuable collections Also during this period the medium assumed a more significant role in the professional practices and reputations of naturalists than has been previously recognized and it figured increasingly within the expanding specialized networks that were central to the production and dissemination of new knowledge In an interrogation that ranges from the first forays into museum photography and early attempts to document collecting expeditions to the importance of traditional and photographic portraiture for the recognition of scientific discoveries this book not only recasts the parameters of what we actually identify as natural history photography in the Victorian era but also how we understand the very structure of empire in relation to this genre at that time

Companion to the History of Modern Science G N Cantor, G.N. Cantor, J.R.R. Christie, M.J.S. Hodge, R.C. Olby, 2006-09-07 A descriptive and analytical guide to the development of Western science from AD 1500 and to the diversity and course of that development first in Europe and later across the world Presented in clear non technical language Extensive indexes of Subjects and Names Indeed a companion volume whose 67 essays give pleasure and instruction an ambitious and successful work Times Literary Supplement This work is an essential resource for libraries everywhere For specialist science libraries willing to keep just one encyclopaedic guide to history for undergraduate libraries seeking to provide easily accessible information for the devisers of university curricula for the modern social historian or even the eclectic scientist taking a break from simply making history this is the book for you Times Higher Education Supplement A pleasure to read with a carefully chosen typeface well organized pages and ample margins it is very easy to find one's way around This is a book which will be consulted widely Technovation This is a commendably easy book to use British Journal of the History of Science Scholars from other areas entering this field students taking the vertical approach and teachers coming from any direction cannot fail to find this an invaluable text History of Science Journal Africa as a Living Laboratory Helen Tilley, 2011-04-15 Tropical Africa was one of the last regions of the world to experience formal European colonialism a process that coincided with the advent of a range of new scientific specialties and research methods Africa as a Living Laboratory is a far reaching study of the thorny relationship between imperialism and the role of scientific expertise environmental medical racial and anthropological in the colonization of British Africa A key source for Helen Tilley's analysis is the African Research Survey a project undertaken in the 1930s to explore how modern science was being applied to African problems This project both embraced and recommended an interdisciplinary approach to research on Africa that Tilley argues underscored the heterogeneity of African environments and the interrelations among the problems being studied While the aim of British colonialists was unquestionably to transform and modernize Africa their efforts Tilley contends were often unexpectedly subverted by scientific concerns with the local and vernacular Meticulously researched and gracefully argued Africa as a Living Laboratory transforms our understanding of imperial history colonial development and the role science played in both

Nature and Antiquities Philip L. Kohl, Irina Podgorny, Stefanie Gänger, 2014-12-04 Nature and Antiquities analyzes how the study of indigenous peoples was linked to the study of nature and natural sciences Leading scholars break new ground and entreat archaeologists to acknowledge the importance of ways of knowing in the study of nature in the history of archaeology Imperialism and the Natural World John MacDonald MacKenzie, John M. MacKenzie, 1990 Many experts recognize that juvenile literature acts as an excellent reflector of the dominant ideas of an age the values and fantasies of adult authors are often dressed up in fictional garb for youthful consumption This collection examines a portion of the mass produced juvenile literature from the mid 19th century until the 1950s focusing on the cluster of ideas connected with Britain's role in the maintenance of order and the spread of civilization Western science medicine geographical ideas and environmental assumptions were all vital to the creation of the imperial world system The contributors to this volume illustrate new approaches to the study of conservation botany geology economic geography state scientific endeavor and entomological and medical research in relation to the imperial rule of both Britain and France Distributed in the US and Canada by St Martin's Press Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR
