Scope Of Economics Paper 2 In November 2014:

EU Competition Law, Data Protection and Online Platforms: Data as Essential Facility Inge Graef, 2016-10-17 All are agreed that the digital economy contributes to a dynamic evolution of markets and competition. Nonetheless concerns are increasingly raised about the market dominance of a few key players. Because these companies hold the power to drive rivals out of business regulators have begun to seek scope for competition enforcement in cases where companies claim that withholding data is needed to satisfy customers and cut costs. This book is the first focus on how competition law enforcement tools can be applied to refusals of dominant firms to give access data on online platforms such as search engines, social networks and e-commerce platforms commonly referred to as the gatekeepers of the Internet. The question arises whether the denial of a dominant firm to grant competitors access to its data could constitute a refusal to deal and lead to competition law liability under the so-called essential facilities doctrine according to which firms need access to shared knowledge in order to be able to compete. A possible duty to share data with rivals also brings to the forefront the interaction of competition law with data protection legislation considering that the required information may include personal data of individuals. Building on the refusal to deal concept and using a multidisciplinary approach the analysis covers such issues and topics as the following: data portability, interoperability, data as a competitive advantage or entry barrier in digital markets, market definition and dominance with respect to data, disruptive versus sustaining innovation, role of intellectual property regimes, economic trade-off in essential facilities cases, relationship of competition enforcement with data protection law and data-related competition concerns in merger cases. The author draws on a wealth of relevant material including EU and US decision-making, practice, case law and policy documents as well as economic and empirical literature on the link between competition and innovation. The book concludes with a proposed framework for the application of the essential facilities doctrine to potential forms of abuse of dominance relating to data. In addition it makes suggestions as to how data protection interests can be integrated into competition policy. An invaluable contribution to ongoing academic and policy discussions about how data-related competition concerns should be addressed under competition law, the analysis clearly demonstrates how existing competition tools for market definition and assessment of dominance can be applied to online platforms. It will be of immeasurable value to the many jurists, business persons and academics concerned with this very timely subject. IT

Kletzer, 2016-11-25 This book presents research that applies contemporary monetary theory and state of the art econometric methods to the analysis of the monetary and financial aspects of the Indian economy and the impact of monetary policy on economic performance Indian monetary policy has attracted significant attention from Indian and international macroeconomists over the last several years Interest in how monetary policy influences economic performance and how monetary policy is conducted in India is growing The prospects for further financial sector reform and ongoing inflation in India have sparked new interest in the role of money and monetary policy in India among economists policy makers and students alike The book should also interest economists outside India because it studies monetary economics in a major emerging market economy and makes advances in the analysis of how financial market imperfections and structural constraints influence the effects of monetary policy

Practising Virtue David D. Caron, Stephan W. Schill, Abby Cohen Smutny, Epaminontas E. Triantafilou, 2015-11-12 International arbitration has developed into a global system of adjudication dealing with disputes arising from a variety of legal relationships between states between private commercial actors and between private and public entities It operates to a large extent according to its own rules and dynamics a transnational justice system rather independent of domestic and international law In response to its growing importance and use by disputing parties international arbitration has become increasingly institutionalized professionalized and judicialized At the same time it has gained significance beyond specific disputes and indeed contributes to the shaping of law Arbitrators have therefore become not only adjudicators but transnational lawmakers This has raised concerns over the legitimacy of international arbitration Practising Virtue looks at international arbitration from the inside with an emphasis on its transnational character Instead of concentrating on the national and international law governing international arbitration it focuses on those who practise international arbitration in order to understand how it actually works what its sources of authority are and what demands of legitimacy it must meet Putting those who practise arbitration into the centre of the system of international arbitration allows us to appreciate the way in which they contribute to the development of the law they apply This book invites eminent arbitrators to reflect on the actual practice of international arbitration and its contribution to the transnational justice system

Emissions Trading Schemes under International Economic Law James Munro, 2018-08-09 The announcement by China that it will implement a national emissions trading scheme confirms the status of this instrument as the pre eminent policy choice for mitigating climate change China will join the dozens of existing and emerging schemes around the world from the EU to California South Korea to New Zealand that use carbon units otherwise known as emissions permits or carbon credits to trade in greenhouse gas emissions in a multi billion dollar global carbon market However to date there has been no consensus about this pre eminent policy instrument being regulated by international economic law through the World Trade Organization international investment agreements and free trade agreements Munro addresses this issue by evaluating whether carbon units qualify as goods services financial services and investments under international economic law and showing how international economic law applies to emissions trading scheme in diverse and unexpected ways Further by engaging in a comparative assessment of schemes around the world his book illustrates how and why all emissions trading schemes engage in various forms of violations of international economic law which would not in most instances be justified by environmental or other exceptions In doing so he demonstrates how such schemes can be designed or reformed in ways to ensure their future compliance

Consumer Involvement in Private EU Competition Law Enforcement Maria Ioannidou, 2015-09-03 Despite the growing importance of consumer welfare in EU competition law debates there remains a significant disconnect between rhetoric and reality as consumers and their interests still play only an ancillary role in this area of law Consumer Involvement in Private EU Competition Law Enforcement is the first monograph to exclusively address this highly topical and much debated subject providing a timely and wide ranging examination of the need for more active consumer participation in competition law Written by an expert in the field it sets out a comprehensive framework of policy implications and arguments for greater involvement positioning the debate in the context of a broader EU law perspective It outlines pragmatic approaches to remedial and procedural measures that would enable consumer empowerment Finally the book identifies key institutional and political obstacles to the adoption of effective measures and suggests alternative routes to enhance the role of consumers in private competition law enforcement The book s innovative approach combining normative analysis and practical solutions make it invaluable for academics policy makers and practitioners in the field

International Capital Flows at the Security Level – Evidence from the ECB’s Asset Purchase Programme Katharina Bergant, Michael Fidora, Martin Schmitz, 2020-02-28 We analyse euro area investors portfolio rebalancing during the ECB s Asset Purchase Programme at the security level Our empirical analysis shows that euro area investors in particular investment funds and households actively rebalanced away from securities targeted under the Public Sector Purchase Programme and other euro denominated debt securities towards foreign debt instruments including closest substitutes i e certain sovereign debt securities issued by non euro area advanced countries This rebalancing was particularly strong during the first six quarters of the programme Our analysis also reveals marked differences across sectors as well as country groups within the euro area suggesting that quantitative easing has induced heterogeneous portfolio shifts rising yet still nowhere near sufficient to cover public expenditure The government's net annual borrowing is now a completely unsustainable 4.4 per cent of GDP with our overall national debt growing rapidly and alarmingly In this arresting and powerful manifesto for economic change Jon Moynihan analyses the UK's decades long stagnant economy and looks at what can be done to resuscitate it Combining rigorous research with unparalleled business experience he explores the key dynamics affecting economic growth ranging from government borrowing expenditure tax and regulation to the way national resources are deployed on non productive and futile growth stifling endeavours Ultimately Moynihan shows that unless we act now to reverse the decline by radically restructuring our economy to stimulate economic growth the UK risks stagnation financial collapse and a long term disintegration in our standard of living Ignore his warning at your peril The Metaphysics of Market Power George Raitt, 2019-05-02 Australian competition law has just emerged from a significant period of reform which has seen controversial changes to the legal test to distinguish between normal competitive conduct and conduct that should be condemned The controversy continues arguably because the traditional legal conception of market power does not provide a useful standard in real world markets This important new book offers a radical interpretation of market power based on the power to manipulate Seeing it in this way allows for positive and normative standards within which to frame a legal theory of liability for misuse of that power The book provides suggestions to improve the forensic assessment of conduct that should be condemned as misuse of market power
