Examining 287(G) United States. Congress. House. Committee on Homeland Security, 2010 The Latino Migration Experience in North Carolina Hannah Gill, 2010-11-01 Over recent decades the Southeast has become a new frontier for Latin American migration to and within the United States and North Carolina has had one of the fastest growing Latino populations in the nation Here Hannah Gill offers North Carolinians from all walks of life a better understanding of their Latino neighbors bringing light instead of heat to local and national debates on immigration Exploring the larger social forces behind demographic shifts Gill shows both how North Carolina communities are facing the challenges and opportunities presented by these changes and how migrants experience the economic and social realities of their new lives Latinos are no longer just visitors to the state but are part of the inevitably changing long term makeup of its population Today emerging migrant communities and the integration of Latino populations remain salient issues as the U S Congress stands on the verge of formulating comprehensive immigration reform for the first time in nearly three decades Gill makes connections between hometowns and the increasing globalization of people money technology and culture by shedding light on the many diverse North Carolina residents who are highly visible yet as she shows invisible at the same time

Vaughn,2015-03-27 Broken down into sections that examine new media strategy from the highest echelons of campaign management all the way down to passive citizen engagement with campaign issues in places like online comment forums the book ultimately reveals that political messaging in today s diverse new media landscape is a fragile unpredictable and sometimes futile process The result is a collection that both interprets important historical data from a watershed campaign season and also explains myriad approaches to political campaign media scholarship International Migration and Citizenship Today Niklaus Steiner,2009-09-10 International migration has emerged in the last decade as one of the world s most controversial and pressing issues This thought provoking textbook offers the reader a more nuanced and knowledgeable understanding of the complex economic political cultural and moral concerns that arise when people move across borders seeking admission into other countries Splitting the text into five broad sections Steiner facilitates easy navigation of the complex discussions that surround the issue of migration Section One Introduction examines how the central questions that frame the book will be addressed including what criteria should be used to admit migrants and How should a country grant citizenship Section Two Immigrants discusses the criteria for accepting immigrants dealing with the unwanted and assessing the economic cultural and political impacts Section Three Refugees evaluates the methods used to protect refugees the controversies surrounding asylum and the shortcomings of current refugee definitions Section Four Citizenship charts the rise of nationalism presents modern issues of minority rights and diversity and examines processes of naturalization across the globe Section Five Conclusion considers more unconventional approaches to migration and citizenship and suggests moving towards a more holistic approach Carefully constructed to spark discussion and student reflection and featuring suggested resources at the end of each section this book offers dozens of contemporary examples and case studies from across the globe International Migration and Citizenship Today is essential reading for not only students of migration and citizenship but also globalization international relations and democracies Just faith Stephan de Beer,2018-12-01 The purpose of this scholarly book is to expand the body of knowledge available on urban theology It introduces readers to the concept of planetary urbanisation with the view of deepening an understanding of urbanisation and its all pervasive impact on the planet people and places from a theological perspective A critical theological reading of the urban is also provided deliberating on bridging the divide between voices from the Global South and the Global North In doing so this book simultaneously seeks out robust and dynamic faith constructs expressed in various forms and embodiments of justice The methodology chosen transcended narrow disciplinary boundaries situating reflections between and across disciplines in the interface between scholarly reflection and an activist faith as well as between local rootedness and global connectedness This was facilitated by the collected gathering of authors spanning all continents various Christian faith traditions and multiple disciplines as well as a range of methodological approaches The book endeavours to contribute to knowledge production in a number of ways Firstly it suggests the inadequacy of most dominant faith expressions in the face of all pervasive forces of urbanisation and it also provides clues as to the possibility of fostering potent alternative imaginaries Secondly it explores a decolonial faith that is expressed in various forms of justice It is an attempt to offer concrete embodiments of what such a faith could look like in the context of planetary urbanisation Thirdly the book does not focus on one specific urban challenge or mode of ministry but rather introduces the concept of planetary urbanisation and then offers critical lenses with which to interrogate its consequences and challenges It considers concrete and liberating faith constructs in areas ranging from gender race economic inequality a solidarity economics and housing to urban violence indigeneity and urbanisation the interface between economic and environmental sustainability and grass roots theological education
