Abstract—The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 10-week, 1000 kcal energy deficit diet on the body composition and physical fitness of 10 sedentary, obese women. The women were randomly assigned to either a diet or a control group. The diet group was instructed to consume a diet that was 1000 kcal less than their estimated energy requirements. The control group was instructed to consume a diet that was equal to their estimated energy requirements. The diet group lost significantly more weight and body fat than the control group. The diet group also had a significant improvement in physical fitness. The control group had no significant changes in body composition or physical fitness. The results of this study suggest that a 10-week, 1000 kcal energy deficit diet is effective in reducing body weight and body fat, and improving physical fitness in sedentary, obese women.
