The Battle of the Sexes in Science Fiction Justine Larbalestier, 2023-09-05 Runner up for the Hugo Best Related Book Award 2003 The Battle of the Sexes in Science Fiction is a lively account of the role of women and feminism in the development of American science fiction during its formative years the mid 20th century Beginning in 1926 with the publication of the first issue of Amazing Stories Justine Larbalestier examines science fiction's engagement with questions of femininity masculinity sex and sexuality She traces the debates over the place of women and feminism in science fiction as it emerged in stories letters and articles in science fiction magazines and fanzines The book culminates in the story of James Tiptree Jr and the eponymous Award Tiptree was a successful science fiction writer of the 1970s who was later discovered to be a woman Tiptree's easy acceptance by the male dominated publishing arena of the time proved that there was no necessary difference in the way men and women wrote but that there was a real difference in the way they were read Approaches to Teaching the Works of Robert Louis Stevenson Caroline McCracken-Flesher, 2013-01-01 Although Robert Louis Stevenson was a late Victorian his work especially Treasure Island and The Strange Case of Dr Jekyll and Mr Hyde still circulates energetically and internationally among popular and academic audiences and among young and old Admired by Henry James Vladimir Nabokov and Jorge Luis Borges Stevenson's fiction crosses the boundaries of genre and challenges narrow definitions of the modern and the postmodern Part 1 of this volume Materials provides an introduction to the writer's life a survey of the criticism of his work and a variety of resources for the instructor In part 2 Approaches thirty essays address such topics as Stevenson's dialogue with James about literature his verse for children his Scottish heritage his wanderlust his work as gothic fiction as science fiction as detective fiction his critique of imperialism in the South Seas his usefulness in the creative writing classroom and how Stevenson encourages expansive thinking across texts times places and lives New Approaches to the Twenty-First-Century Anglophone Novel Sibylle Baumbach, Birgit Neumann, 2019-12-20 This book discusses the complex ways in which the novel offers a vibrant arena for critically engaging with our contemporary world and scrutinises the genre's political ethical and aesthetic value Far reaching cultural political and technological changes during the past two decades have created new contexts for the novel which have yet to be accounted for in literary studies Addressing the need for fresh transdisciplinary approaches that explore these developments the book focuses on the multifaceted responses of the novel to key global challenges including migration and cosmopolitanism posthumanism and ecosickness human and animal rights affect and biopolitics human cognition and anxieties of inattention and the transculturality of terror By doing so it testifies to the ongoing cultural relevance of the genre Lastly it examines a range of 21st century Anglophone novels to encourage new critical discourses in literary studies The New Routledge Companion to Science Fiction Mark

Bould, Andrew M. Butler, Sherryl Vint, 2024-06-13 The New Routledge Companion to Science Fiction provides an overview of the study of science fiction across multiple academic fields It offers a new conceptualisation of the field today marking the significant changes that have taken place in sf studies over the past 15 years Building on the pioneering research in the first edition the collection reorganises historical coverage of the genre to emphasise new geographical areas of cultural production and the growing importance of media beyond print It also updates and expands the range of frameworks that are relevant to the study of science fiction The periodisation has been reframed to include new chapters focusing on science fiction produced outside the Anglophone context including South Asian Latin American Chinese and African diasporic science fiction The contributors use both well established critical and theoretical approaches and embrace a range of new ones including biopolitics climate crisis critical ethnic studies disability studies energy humanities game studies medical humanities new materialisms and sonic studies This book is an invaluable resource for students and established scholars seeking to understand the vast range of engagements with science fiction in scholarship today Chapter 39 of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license

The Poetics of Space and Place in Scottish Literature Monika Szuba, Julian Wolfreys, 2019-04-01 This book addresses the poetics of space and place in Scottish literature Focusing chiefly on twentieth and twenty first century texts with acknowledgement of historical and philosophical contexts the essays address representation narrative form the work of the poetic perception and experience Major genres and forms are discussed and authors as diverse as George Mackay Brown Kathleen Jamie Ken McLeod and Kei Miller are presented through theoretically informed historically contextualized close readings Additionally considering the role of dialect and region in the poetry and fiction of modern Scotland the volume argues for an appreciation of the cultural diversity of Scottish writers while highlighting the overarching presence of a connection between self and world subject and place within Scottish literature

Starfield Duncan Lunan, 2018-05-29 In a field which spans the whole of space and time and alternative universes beyond the voice of Scottish science fiction writers is a distinctive one It blends together the national reputation for science and technology with the mystical Celtic background and the traditional art of the story teller
