Dreams for Lesotho John Aerni-Flessner,2018-05-30 In Dreams for Lesotho Independence Foreign Assistance and Development John Aerni Flessner studies the post independence emergence of Lesotho as an example of the uneven ways in which people experienced development at the end of colonialism in Africa The book posits that development became the language through which Basotho the people of Lesotho conceived of the dream of independence both before and after the 1966 transfer of power While many studies of development have focused on the perspectives of funding governments and agencies Aerni Flessner approaches development as an African driven process in Lesotho The book examines why both political leaders and ordinary people put their faith in development even when projects regularly failed to alleviate poverty He argues that the potential promise of development helped make independence real for Africans The book utilizes government archives in four countries but also relies heavily on newspapers oral histories and the archives of multilateral organizations like the World Bank It will interest scholars of decolonization development empire and African and South African history
