Home Efa E. Etoroma, 2024-03-15 Where are you from Where is your home Do you miss home These are questions that Efa E Etoroma born in Nigeria has frequently been asked since moving to Canada in 1978 In this autoethnography the Concordia University of Edmonton professor examines his views on what home really is and his struggles to feel a true sense of belonging anywhere he has lived Explained with candor and occasional vulnerability Home Reflections on Marginality and Belonging is told from the perspective of a marginalized Black Christian immigrant but his story is relatable to anyone who has felt alienated or had a crisis of identity Efa shares his personal experiences of growing up in post colonial northern Nigeria raised Anglican amongst mostly Muslims and fleeing to the southern region as a child shortly after the start of the Nigerian Civil War Then he recounts moving to Canada to attend school but staying upon meeting his future Canadian born wife He explores his connection with Black Pentecostal churches as well as his thoughts on grieving death and aging away from his homeland Supporting these experiences Efa incorporates an abundance of research for a wider cultural and social context Home Reflections on Marginality and Belonging is part snapshot of the author s life a way of identifying who he is and where he is from part answer to the questions Where are you from and Where is your home and part exploration of the micro level contradictions of social change brought about by modern society

The New Examination System - GCSE Walter Roy, 2019-07-17 Reform of the public examination system for sixteen year olds presented a considerable challenge to secondary schools The new General Certification of Secondary Education introduced in 1988 was more than a continuation of the G C E O level and C S E examinations at the time The introduction of national criteria by the Department of Education the part played by the Secondary Schools Examination Council the emergence of new examining bodies were new dimensions faced by schools accustomed to exercising considerable autonomy in designing a curriculum How far would the new examination reflect what was actually taught in our classrooms What were its new features Which pupils would be entered and with what prospect of success Above all how would schools meet a tight time schedule which required study of new syllabuses to be ready by 1986 for the first examinations held in 1988 Originally published in 1986 this book was intended to answer some of these questions and provide an up to date picture of the present state of the examination world with indications of future developments in the vital years ahead It aimed to assist those immediately and urgently concerned with implementing this far reaching educational reform Today it can be considered in its historical context

Testing Times Willis Richard, 2014-02-07 This book focuses on the delivery of public examinations offered by the main examining boards in England since Victorian England The investigation reveals that the provision of examinations was as controversial in the nineteenth century as it is today particularly since the government is now determined to bring in reform The issues of grade inflation the place of coursework in marking and the introduction of technological change all feature in this book Educational policy is primarily examined as well as some reference to the global scene The study analyses archival material from a wide range of sources including those records stored at the National Archives and the London Metropolitan Archives An emphasis is placed upon the various institutions that contributed to the process including the Royal Society of Arts the London Chamber of Commerce the City of Guilds of London Institute and the University of London Attention is given to the findings of the Taunton Commission and the Bryce Commission and shorter reports such as the Northcote Trevelyn Report which served to radicalise entry and recruitment to the Civil Service The modern GCSE and the plans for I levels are considered and key observations are made about the efficacy of those examinations offered by Oxford and Cambridge universities and O levels A levels and NVQs The reader is given every opportunity to benefit enthusiastically in this account of examinations and those engaged in education whether teachers examiners students or administrators will be able to gain useful insights into the workings of the examination system
