Model Udeme T. Ndon, 2010-10-01 This book is a product of a dissertation project that was completed in December 2006 This project investigated teachers experiences in relation to teaching and learning using the hybrid context instructional model The dissertation itself has been noted as one of the best in providing practical tips for teachers in this area The study methodology is included as appendix B To answer the questions raised during the interviews the findings of the study have been supplemented and supported with extensive literature review of empirical studies to provide theoretical and practical solutions. The literature review draws from total Internet blended and hybrid instruction studies. The literature on the total Internet instruction has relevance in that the Internet piece of the hybrid context course shares the same course management systems and requires the same approaches and principles as do total Internet instruction. The book discusses the conceptual and descriptive presentations of the hybrid context model, media applicable teaching philosophies, strategies best accomplished in each medium, various ways of linking the face to face and the Internet activities, the why and how the study participants transitioned into teaching hybrid context courses, teachers' expectations, etc. The discussion on labor of love is the core of this book as the discussion has captured the surprises the study participants met in a way that is not reflected in the current literature. Built into this discussion are the amounts of things teachers had to learn in order to function well as hybrid context model teachers. The contents of this book will aid teachers who teach in any way using the Internet. Therefore, any establishment individual using the Internet for teaching and learning will benefit from the contents of this book. Also, the administrators will find this book a selling point to encourage more participation in the adoption of the hybrid context instructional model as well as realizing what the teachers would need to successfully implement this phenomenon.

Financing a College Education Jacqueline Elizabeth King, 1999. In Financing a College Education, 15 prominent policy analysts and higher education specialists describe how student costs at U.S. postsecondary institutions are met, why and how student aid policy and practice have changed over the last few years, and what enhancements to current programs would make the system more equitable. The book's first part describes the massive and unwieldy but vitally important system of federal, state, private, and institutional financial aid for students. The second part discusses controversial student aid issues that are currently high on the national agenda, in particular the shift away from ensuring access and toward making college more affordable for students from middle class families. Federal Register, 2012-06. Intentional Perspectives on Information Systems Engineering Selmin Nurcan, Camille Salinesi, Carine Souveyet, Jolita Ralyté, 2010-06-17. Requirements engineering has since long acknowledged the importance of the notion that system requirements are stakeholder goals rather than system functions and ought to be elicited, modeled, and analyzed accordingly. In this book, Nurcan and her co-editors collected twenty contributions from leading researchers in requirements engineering with the intention to comprehensively present an overview of the different perspectives that exist today in 2010 on the concept of intention in the information systems community. These original papers honor Colette Rolland for her contributions to this field as she was probably the first to emphasize that intention has to be considered as a first class concept in information systems engineering. Written by long term collaborators and most often friends of Colette Rolland, this volume covers topics like goal oriented requirements engineering, model driven development, method engineering, and enterprise modeling. As such, it is a tour d'horizon of Colette Rolland's lifework and is presented to her on
