Watson-Vandiver, Greg Wiggan, 2021. Students of color are often left underserved and unrepresented in school curricula. This book focuses on African American students and the usefulness and importance of corrective education in reversing curricular fallacies. Additionally, it uncovers and explains the role that education can play in creating a more holistic learning experience for minority students. The Afrocentric school in this proposed book is high performing and outperforms the state. The book identifies what teachers and students recognize as supportive features of the school's approach, including: a unique learning environment, b support systems, c spiritual affirmations, d evidence of Black education, e a reframing of Afrocentricity, and f education that promotes positive and transformative Black identity. In response to reviewers, the authors will expand their frame of reference to draw on evidence from other schools but will look deeply at one school and possible applications of its model in other settings.

Photos. Educational Leadership as a Culturally-Constructed Practice Jane Wilkinson, Laurette Bristol, 2017-07-20. This edited book collection disrupts received notions of educational leadership culture and diversity as currently portrayed in practice and theory. It draws on compelling studies of educational leadership from the global north and south, as well as from a range of ethnic, religious, and gendered perspectives and critical research approaches. In so doing, the book powerfully challenges contemporary leadership discourses of diversity that reproduce essentialising leadership practices, binary divisions, and asymmetrical power relations. The various chapters contest and move beyond exhortations for leadership in increasingly diverse societies revealing through their rich portraits of the hybridity of leadership practice the shallowness of diversity discourses that are framed as something we the culturally homogenous leader do to heterogenous others The volume is more than critique Instead it offers readers new directions and possibilities through which to understand theorise and practise educational leadership in the twenty first century In portraying leading as a relational practice in contexts of cultural hybridity Blackmore this volume it extends critical theories for and of leadership practice examining the intersectionality between leadership and a range of social categories and challenging notions of leadership as a singular construct Compelling research narratives reveal educational leadership practice as nuanced temporal site specific and prefigured by traditions and cultural understandings that reach beyond a simplification of educational leadership as understood through unitary lenses of race gender or ethnicity This book is essential reading for academics and students of educational leadership and management as well as administrators
