Common Core for the Not-So-Common Learner, Grades K-5 Maria G. Dove,Andrea Honigsfeld,2013-03-08 The strategies you need to teach common standards to diverse learners The elementary years are a critical opportunity to help students of all backgrounds meet the demands of the Common Core Standards. In this realistic thorough book, Maria Dove and Andrea Honigsfeld show how to help every K-5 student, including English Learners, students with disabilities, speakers of nonstandard English, and other struggling learners, meet the Common Core Standards for English Language Arts. ELA Educators will find an adaptable approach that ensures all students develop lasting language skills. This resource familiarizes readers with each of the Common Core's 32 ELA anchor standards, outlines the specific skills that students need to master each standard, presents a wealth of flexible teaching strategies and instructional tools aligned to each anchor standard, and includes guidance on collaboration and co-teaching for student success.

Common Core for the Not So Common Learner is the standards-based ELA resource that elementary teachers have been waiting for. Each anchor standard in all five domains is fully explained with practical, engaging activities that can add fun and learning to any classroom. Readers will feel supported and energized for the challenges ahead with a toolkit for meeting the needs of all learners.

Writing Strategies That Work by Lori G. Wilfong, 2015-04-24. Learn the ten keys to effective writing instruction. In this dynamic book, bestselling author Lori G. Wilfong takes you through today's best practices for teaching writing and how to implement them in the classroom. She also points out practices that should be avoided, helping you figure out how to update your teaching so that all students can reach success. You'll discover how to:

- Make sure students have enough work in a genre before you assign writing.
- Develop thoughtful short writing prompts that are infinite and not finite.
- Have students read and learn from master authors in the genre they are writing.
- Create a writing community so that writing is not an isolated activity.
- Use anchor charts and minilessons along with rubrics and checklists.
- Implement revising strategies, not just editing strategies taught in context.
- Use conferencing to grow students as thoughtful, reflective writers.
- Let narratives be personal and creative, focusing on details and imagery.
- Let informational writing explore a topic creatively and in depth.
- Let argument writing be situated in real-world application and not be limited to one-sided "what if" debates.

Every chapter begins with an engaging scenario, includes the why behind the practice, and how it connects to the Common Core, and clearly describes how to implement the strategy. The book also contains tons of handy templates that you can reproduce and use in your own classroom. You can photocopy these templates or download them from our website at <http://www.routledge.com/books/details/9781138812444>.

Reading, Writing, and Thinking by Paul L. Thomas and Joe Kincheloe, 2006-01-01. In a world gone mad with standardized curricula and the degradation of the profession of teaching, Paul L. Thomas and Joe Kincheloe attempt to bring sanity back to the discussion of the teaching of some of the basic features of the educational process. In Reading, Writing, and Thinking: The Postformal Basics, the authors take on the rational irrationality of current imperial pedagogical practices, providing readers with provocative insights into the bizarre assumptions surrounding the contemporary teaching of reading writing and thinking The authors are obsessed with producing an accessible book for multiple audiences parents teachers scholars of education that moves beyond critique to a new domain of the social and educational imagination Readers of Thomas and Kincheloe s book embark on a mind trip beginning with what is and moving to the realm of what could be In this context they introduce readers to a critical theory of thinking postformalism that moves the social and educational conversation to a new terrain of individual and social consciousness Tired of the same educational policies and solutions in the teaching of reading writing and thinking the authors become socio psychic explorers who move readers past the boundaries of contemporary pedagogical perception
