Proust, the One, and the Many Erika Fulop, 2017-12-02 One of the many aspects that make Marcel Proust's A la recherche du temps perdu such a complex and subtle work is its engagement with metaphysical questions. The disparate nature of the narrators' experiences, hypotheses, and statements has generated a number of conflicting interpretations based on parallels with the thought of one or another philosopher from Plato to Leibniz, Spinoza, Schopenhauer, Nietzsche, Bergson, or Deleuze. Through the analysis of the narrators' two seemingly incompatible perceptions of the world which reveal reality to be either one or infinitely multiple, Erika Fulop proposes a reading of the novel that reconciles the opposites. Rather than being undecided or self-contradictory, the narrative thematizes the insufficiency of the dualist perspective and invites the reader to take a step beyond it. Erika Fulop is an independent researcher whose doctoral thesis, completed at the University of Aberdeen, is at the basis of this monograph.

Gilles Deleuze's ABCs Charles J. Stivale, 2008-02-04 Friendship in its nature, purpose, and effects has been an important concern of philosophy since antiquity. It was of particular significance in the life of Gilles Deleuze, one of the most original and influential philosophers of the late twentieth century. Taking L'Abécdaire de Gilles Deleuze, an eight-hour video interview that was intended to be aired only after Deleuze's death, as a key source, Charles J. Stivale examines the role of friendship as it appears in Deleuze's work and life. Stivale develops a zigzag methodology practiced by Deleuze himself to explore several concepts as they relate to friendship and to discern how friendship shifts, slips, and creates movement between Deleuze and specific friends The first section of this study discusses the elements of creativity pedagogy and literature that appear implicitly and explicitly in his work The second section focuses on Deleuze's friendships with Michel Foucault Jacques Derrida Claire Parnet and Félix Guattari and reveals his conception of friendship as an ultimately impersonal form of intensity that goes beyond personal relationships Stivale's analysis offers an intimate view into the thought of one of the greatest thinkers of our time

Spaces of Feeling Marta Figlerowicz, 2017-12-15 Can other people notice our affects more easily than we do In Spaces of Feeling Marta Figlerowicz examines modernist novels and poems that treat this possibility as electrifying but also deeply disturbing Their characters and lyric speakers are undone Figlerowicz posits by the realization that they depend on others to solve their inward affective conundrums and that to these other people their feelings often do not seem mysterious at all Spaces of Feeling features close readings of works by Virginia Woolf James Baldwin John Ashbery Ralph Ellison Marcel Proust F Scott

Fitzgerald Sylvia Plath and Wallace Stevens Figlerowicz points out that these poets and novelists often place their protagonists in domestic spaces such as bedrooms living rooms and basements in which their cognitive dependence on other characters inhabiting these spaces becomes clear Figlerowicz highlights the diversity of aesthetic and sociopolitical contexts in which these affective dependencies become central to these authors representations of selfhood By setting these novels and poems in conversation with the work of contemporary theorists she illuminates pressing and unanswered questions about subjectivity

Bergson-Deleuze Encounters Valentine Moulard-Leonard,2008-08-07 Bergson Deleuze Encounters sheds light on the intricate bond between French philosophers Henri Bergson and Gilles Deleuze It explores the major diffraction between the two thinkers conveys a sense of the irreducible originality of Deleuze s thought and offers a detailed account of Bergson s Copernican Revolution In so doing it presents an explanation of thought and experience that contrasts with the dominant account of the phenomenological tradition Valentine Moulard Leonard argues that Bergson and Deleuze share a novel conception of the transcendental which they call the Virtual that marks a new era in thinking in which what is ultimately at stake is a new vision of time experience and materiality The Virtual provides an indispensable alternative to the totalizing systems spawned by the traditional transcendent image of thought be they systems of idealism scientific positivism nationalism racism sexism or dogmatism

Magical Criticism Christopher Bracken,2008-09-15 During the Enlightenment Western scholars racialized ideas deeming knowledge based on reality superior to that based on ideality Scholars labeled inquiries into ideality such as animism and soul migration savage philosophy a clear indicator of the racism motivating the distinction between the real and the ideal In their view the savage philosopher mistakes connections between signs for connections between real objects and believes that discourse can have physical effects in other words they believe in magic Christopher Bracken s Magical Criticism brings the unacknowledged history of this racialization to light and shows how even as we have rejected ethnocentric notions of the savage they remain active today in everything from attacks on postmodernism to Native American land disputes Here Bracken reveals that many of the most influential Western thinkers dabbled in savage philosophy from Marx Nietzsche and Proust to Freud C S Peirce and Walter Benjamin For Bracken this recourse to savage philosophy presents an opportunity to reclaim a magical criticism that can explain the very real effects created by the discourse of historians anthropologists philosophers the media and governments

Disruption of Habits During the Pandemic AA: VV:,2022-09-23T00:00:00+02:00 In the year 2020 what we used to think that our habits have been profoundly disrupted Lockdown still represents an unprecedented experience for all of those who went through it since it radically affected our freedom of movement and social interaction that used to make up our everyday lives Some people believe that once the pandemic ends nothing will be the same Others think that once the virus becomes weaker or a vaccine is at our disposal and the fear is diminished everything will go back to normal because the mechanism of habit is in many ways similar to the mechanisms of nature reiterating the uniformity of its functioning Who is right then Both positions perhaps When philosophers addressed the issue of customs namely collective habits generally emphasized the caution required when it comes to changing them and if we look back on history Could pandemics affect shared habits in specific territories as ultimately generated in reaction to other natural risks and or to their threats
