Canada's Residential Schools: The History, Part 2, 1939 to 2000 Truth and Reconciliation Commission of Canada, 2015-12-09 Between 1867 and 2000 the Canadian government sent over 150 000 Aboriginal children to residential schools across the country Government officials and missionaries agreed that in order to civilize and Christianize Aboriginal children it was necessary to separate them from their parents and their home communities For children life in these schools was lonely and alien Discipline was harsh and daily life was highly regimented Aboriginal languages and cultures were denigrated and suppressed Education and technical training too often gave way to the drudgery of doing the chores necessary to make the schools self sustaining Child neglect was institutionalized and the lack of supervision created situations where students were prey to sexual and physical abusers Legal action by the schools former students led to the creation of the Truth and Reconciliation Commission of Canada in 2008 The product of over six years of research the Commission's final report outlines the history and legacy of the schools and charts a pathway towards reconciliation Canada's Residential Schools The History Part 2 1939 to 2000 carries the story of the residential school system from the end of the Great Depression to the closing of the last remaining schools in the late 1990s It demonstrates that the underfunding and unsafe living conditions that characterized the early history of the schools continued into an era of unprecedented growth and prosperity for most Canadians. A miserly funding formula meant that into the late 1950s school meals fell short of the Canada Food Rules. Overcrowding, poor sanitation and a failure to adhere to fire safety rules were common problems throughout this period. While government officials had come to view the schools as costly and inefficient, the churches were reluctant to countenance their closure. It was not until the late 1960s that the federal government finally wrested control of the system away from the churches. Government plans to turn First Nations education over to the provinces met with opposition from Aboriginal organizations that were seeking Indian Control of Indian Education. Following parent-led occupation of a school in Alberta, many of the remaining schools came under Aboriginal administration. The closing of the schools coincided with a growing number of convictions of former staff members on charges of sexually abusing students. These trials revealed the degree to which sexual abuse at the schools had been covered up in the past. Former students who came to refer to themselves as Survivors established regional and national organizations and provided much of the leadership for the campaign that led to the federal government issuing in 2008 an apology to the former students and their families. Islamesque Diana Darke, 2024-11-14. Who really built Europe's finest Romanesque monuments? Abbots and bishops presiding over holy sites receive mentions aplenty throughout history, while their highly skilled creators remain anonymous. But the buildings speak for themselves. In this groundbreaking book, Middle East cultural historian Diana Darke explores the evidence embedded in medieval monasteries, churches and castles across Europe, from Mont Saint Michel and the Leaning Tower of Pisa to Durham Cathedral and the Basilica of Santiago de Compostela. Tracing the origins of key decorative and architectural innovations during this pre-Gothic period, acknowledged as the essential foundation of all future European construction styles, she sheds new light on the mystery of masons, carpenters and sculptors behind these masterpieces. Her discoveries are dramatic. At a time when Christendom lacked such expertise, Muslim craftsmen, with their advanced understanding of geometry and complex ornamentation styles, dominated the high-end construction industry in Islamic Spain, Sicily and North Africa, spreading their knowledge and techniques across Western Europe. Challenging Eurocentric assumptions about the continent's built heritage, Darke uncovers the profound influence of the Islamic world in Christian Europe and argues that Romanesque architecture, a fiction first invented by nineteenth-century French art historians, should be recognised as what it truly is: Islamesque.

Empire in Asia: A New Global History Brian P. Farrell, Donna Brunero, 2018-09-20. Asia was the principle focus of empire builders from Alexander and Akbar to Chinggis Khan and Qianlong, and yet until now there has been no attempt to provide a comprehensive history of empire in the region. Empire in Asia addresses the need for a thorough survey of the topic. This volume covers the long 19th century, commonly seen in terms of high imperialism and the global projection of Western power. This volume explores the dynamic, volatile and often contested processes by which, in the early years of the 20th century, Asian states and peoples became deeply integrated into the wider dynamics of global reordering. Drawing on case studies from across Asia the contributors discuss key themes including ideology concepts of identity religion and politics state building and state formation the relationships between space people and sovereignty the movements of goods money people and ideas and the influence and impact of conflict and military power The two volumes of Empire in Asia offer a significant contribution to the theory and practice of empire when considered globally and comparatively and are essential reading for all students and scholars of global imperial and Asian history

Richard M. Nixon and European Integration Joseph M. Siracusa, Hang Thi Thuy Nguyen, 2018-04-13 This book re-examines the Nixon administration's attitude and approach to the European integration project The formulation of US policy towards European integration in the Nixon presidential years 1969-1974 was conditioned by the perceived relative decline of the United States Western European emergence and competition the feared Communist expansionism and US national interests Against that backdrop the Nixon administration saw the need to re-evaluate its policy on Western Europe and the integration process on this continent Underpinning this study is the extensive use of newly released archival materials from the Nixon Presidential Library and Museum the Library of Congress and the State Department Furthermore the work is based on the public papers in the American Presidency Project and the materials on the topic of European integration and unification in the Archive of European Integration Finally the study has extensively used newspaper archives as well as the declassified online documents memoirs and diaries of former US officials Mining these sources made it possible to shed new light on the complexity and dynamism of the Nixon administration's policy towards European integration

North Country Jon K. Lauck, Gleaves Whitney, 2023-05-04 Travel north from the upper Midwest's metropolises and before long you're Up North a region that's hard to define but unmistakable to any resident or tourist Crops give way to forests mines or their remains mark the landscape and lakes multiply becoming ever clearer until you reach the vastness of the Great Lakes How to characterize this region as distinct from the agrarian Midwest is the question North Country seeks to answer as a congenial group of scholars journalists and public intellectuals explores the distinctive landscape culture and history that define the northern margins of the American Midwest From the glacial past to the present day these essays range across the histories of the Dakota and Ojibwe people colonial imperial rivalries and immigration and conflicts between the economic imperatives of resource extraction and the stewardship of nature The book also considers literary treatments of the area and arguably makes its own contributions to that literature as some of the authors search for the North Country through personal essays while others highlight individuals who are identified with the area like Sigurd Olson John Barlow Martin and Russell Kirk From the fur trade to tourism fisheries to supper clubs Finnish settlers to Native treaty rights the nature of the North Country emerges here in all its variety and particularity as clearly distinct from the greater Midwest as it is part of the American heartland

Between History and Literature Siddharth Satpathy, Girish D. Pawar, 2025-06-30 This book explores the value of bhasa literature through the lens of Dipesh Chakrabarty's scholarship offering a nuanced perspective on his passionate engagement with literature at large and with Bengali literature in particular These essays dedicated to Chakrabarty in different ways extend Chakrabarty's preoccupation with the relationship between history and literature and with the subject of modernity in India The themes covered in this book are wide ranging from the modern reception of Sarala Das's Mahabharata and a revisionist reading of Ismat Chughtai's Lihaff to studies of agrarian representations in colonial Bengal and the printing cultures of Bareilly including the Hindi translation of Benjamin Franklin's biography from early account of colonial bureaucrats engagement with Gujarati kavya and itihasa in compiling modern histories to the study of the formation of a sonic theology in early modern Bengal from the genesis and reception history of Vande Mataram to an account of the evolution of a modern Bengali vocabulary which enabled vernacular geographers in the nineteenth century to represent the imperial global world This volume will be of particular interest to students and researchers in South Asian studies history literary theory and postcolonial studies The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of South Asian History and Culture

Making History New Seamus O'Malley, 2014-10-24 Guided by Ezra Pound's dictum Make it new a generation of writers set out to create fiction and poetry that was unlike anything that came before it However as Seamus O'Malley shows historical narrative was a key site for modernist experimentation Taking three of literary modernism's major figures Joseph Conrad Ford Madox Ford and Rebecca West Making History New demonstrates how the movement's literature not only engaged with history but also transformed traditional approaches to its telling in unique ways Informed by Paul Ricoeur's belief that narrative is necessary to comprehend historical processes the study closely examines four major modernist historical novels Conrad's Nostromo interrogates the very term history as it relates the political tumult of a fictitious Latin American country while Ford's The Good Soldier mirrors the cyclical nature of historiography with a protagonist who returns repeatedly to intense periods of his own past to better comprehend them Two epochal World War I novels The Return of the Soldier and Parade's End depict shell shocked veterans that illustrate the paradox of an accurate historical rendering achieved through the process of amnesia These novels in O'Malley's view lead to the high point of what he terms modernist historiography Rebecca West's innovative 1941 travelogue Black Lamb and Grey Falcon and its preoccupation with history's impossibility The monograph concludes with a brief consideration of how historians since World War II have adopted some of the approaches to narrative inaugurated by literary modernists while wrestling with how to relate unthinkable atrocities such as genocide Ultimately Making History New foregrounds narrative's essential role as a bridge between fiction and history as it explores the process by which collective human experience becomes historical narrative

Violence, Colonialism and Empire in the Modern World Philip Dwyer, Amanda Nettelbeck, 2017-10-17 This book explores the theme of violence repression and atrocity in imperial and colonial empires as well as its representations and memories from the late eighteenth through to the twentieth century It examines the wide variety of violent means by which colonies and empire were maintained in the modern era the politics of repression and the violent structures inherent in empire Bringing together scholars from around the world the book includes chapters on British French Dutch Italian and Japanese colonies and conquests It considers multiple experiences of colonial violence ranging from political dispute to the non lethal violence of everyday colonialism and the symbolic repression inherent in colonial practices and hierarchies These comparative case studies show how violence was used to assert and maintain control in the colonies contesting the long held view that the colonial project was of benefit to colonised peoples
