November 2013 Economics Paper 2 Grade 11:

The Normal Accident Theory of Education Andrew K. Milton, 2014-04-01 Much of the current debate about education too often resembles the blind men describing an elephant apprehending only a particular part of the situation or the process many analysts tell an evocative but incomplete story The so called reform discussion proceeds with a lack of depth about the nuances and realistic limitations in the institutional order of school This book argues that as regulation of schools moves further up the bureaucratic hierarchy first to state departments of education then to the national department of education the legal and institutional requirements get more intensive but less concretely useful in class rooms This bureaucratization serves to tighten the organizational environment thereby increasing the risk of normal accidents The increasing governmental management in other words makes it more likely that schools will fail to meet their goals Analyses of education are too often developed for public consumption in a fast moving political world This book examines some of the deeper organizational reasons why things don't work so well in school as well as a look at some of things that do work Most importantly the book will explain how the social and cultural expectations of what schools can do may create unrealistic hopes We as a society and schools as institutions embrace these unreasonably high hopes at our collective peril Check out Andrew's latest interview with Seattle Radio <http://kiroradio.com> listen 9972862 EFA Global Monitoring Report - 2013-2014 - Teaching and Learning Achieving quality for all UNESCO, 2014-02-04 The 2013 2014 Education for All Global Monitoring Report shows that a lack of attention to education quality and a failure to reach the marginalized have contributed to a learning crisis that needs urgent attention Worldwide 250 million children many of them from disadvantaged backgrounds are not learning the basics Teaching and Learning Achieving Quality for All describes how policy makers can support and sustain a quality education system for all children regardless of background by providing the best teachers The Report also documents global progress in achieving Education for All goals and provides lessons for setting a new education agenda post 2015 In addition the Report identifies that insufficient financing is hindering advances in education

Credit Rating Governance Ahmed Naciri, 2015-01-30 Credit rating agencies play an essential role in the modern financial system and are relied on by creditors and investors on the market In the recent financial crisis their power and reliability were often questioned yet a simple rating downgrade could threaten to bankrupt a whole country This book examines the governance of credit rating agencies as expressed by their ability to fairly ethically and consistently assign higher rates to issuers having lesser default risks However factors such as the drive for increased revenue and market share the inadequate business model the inadequate methodology of assessing risk opacity and inadequate internal monitoring have all been identified as critical governance failures for credit agencies This book explores these issues and proposes some potential solutions and improvements This will be of interest to researchers and advanced students of corporate finance finance financial economics risk management investment management and banking Realising Learning Keith Wood, Saratha Sithamparam, 2014-07-25 The best professional development for teachers focuses on issues they encounter in the classroom It is collaborative school based learning focused and supports teachers in solving problems of pedagogy in context Through lesson study teachers are empowered to make decisions to improve pedagogy curriculum and assessment based on evidence of the effect of design on learning Being explicit about the theories of learning underpinning their teaching decisions allows teachers to develop a shared vocabulary for the diagnosis of learning problems redesign and evaluation of learning situations Learning study introduces a new Variation Theory of Learning It provides a framework for teachers to make critical decisions about what is to be learnt and how The fusion of lesson and learning study is changing the nature of professional development and providing teachers with a voice in the field of educational research In Realising Learning teachers teacher educators and policy makers can share the progress achieved by teachers in Asia and Europe to improve teaching and learning Regional Dynamics in a Decentralized Indonesia Hal Hill, 2014-05-20 Indonesia is the world's largest archipelagic state In 2001 it embarked on a big bang decentralization involving a major transfer of administrative political and financial authority to its districts now numbering more than 500 Together with the rapid transition from authoritarian to democratic rule in the late 1990s this initiative has transformed the country's political social and business life While national government is the major area of contestation power has shifted irreversibly away from the centre How this significantly increased regional autonomy works will have a crucial bearing on the future of the Indonesian nation state This volume features contributions by over 40 writers with deep expertise on Indonesia The book provides a timely comprehensive and analytical assessment of the country's regional development dynamics in the post decentralization environment It explores historical political and development patterns at the regional level the relationship between decentralization and governance local level perspectives migration cities and connectivity and the challenges confronting the peripheral regions of Aceh and Papua Rethinking Value-Added Models in Education Audrey

Amrein-Beardsley, 2014-04-24 Since passage of the No Child Left Behind Act in 2001 academic researchers econometricians and statisticians have been exploring various analytical methods of documenting students academic progress over time Known as value added models VAMs these methods are meant to measure the value a teacher or school adds to student learning from one year to the next To date however there is very little evidence to support the trustworthiness of these models What is becoming increasingly evident yet often ignored mainly by policymakers is that VAMs are 1 unreliable 2 invalid 3 nontransparent 4 unfair 5 fraught with measurement errors and 6 being inappropriately used to make consequential decisions regarding such things as teacher pay retention and termination Unfortunately their unintended consequences are not fully recognized at this point either Given such the timeliness of this well researched and thoughtful book cannot be overstated This book sheds important light on the debate surrounding VAMs and thereby offers states and practitioners a highly important resource from which they can move forward in more research based ways

Food and Cooking Skills Education Anita Tull, 2018-01-29 Food and Cooking Skills Education FCSE is a complex mix of policy and practicality educational theory and pedagogy classroom and government policy This book shows how FCSE has been at the centre of a tussle between education and policy for decades It reviews how FCSE has grappled with various significant issues of concern that threaten to marginalise it and pose problems for educational practicalities as expectations are increased but resources are squeezed It assesses the debate about the significance and importance of acquiring practical food and cooking skills in a society where the purchase of ready made food has become commonplace and public knowledge of where our food comes from is noticeably lacking This has contributed to the escalating incidence of diet related diseases and the attendant cost to society and threatened environmental sustainability In turn governments have reacted by proposals to make practical cooking skills a statutory National Curriculum subject as part of the armoury for tackling such costs Based on detailed research conducted across England and Wales as well as comparisons with thirty five other countries or states the author makes recommendations for policy to manage this challenge facing contemporary society
