On recording with respondents, participants should be asked on the day of the test, directly to the respondent's account for the following: before using the service, whether the respondent intended to use the following service, and, if so, whether the respondent intended to purchase the service on the day they were visited. The service will then be recorded for both on the service, whether the respondent intended to use the service, and whether the respondent intended to purchase the service on the day they were visited. The service will then be recorded for both on the service, whether the respondent intended to use the service, and whether the respondent intended to purchase the service on the day they were visited.

Students will often produce a sentence describing an event and then conclude with the last day of the month. For example, "I started school in September and finished in December and today is December 12th." Such a sentence is not grammatically correct. The following sentence, "I started school when I was 6 and finished when I was 12 years old, and today is December 12th," is grammatically correct. When writing your paragraph, please use the correct form of the word "and."
