Imagining Elleke Boehmer, 2025-12-30 A new compass for global reading looking at the world from the far southern latitudes A northern viewpoint is most often the default while the south the far southern latitudes occupied by Australia New Zealand Argentina and southern Africa among others seems far away and ignorable In Southern Imagining Elleke Boehmer offers an alternative perspective using literary scientific and cultural material to explore how we look at the world from the south Reading she argues is a transformative means of reversing our usual planetary orientation and rearranging our perceptual geography Boehmer examines writing from across southern continents and islands considering how we imaginatively inhabit the farthest reaches of our planet Creators ranging from the Portuguese epic poet Lu s de Cam es to Samuel Taylor Coleridge Charles Darwin Katherine Mansfield Jorge Luis Borges and ancient Indigenous storytellers capture the edgy and austere experiences of the far south For Boehmer imaginative work stimulates and shapes our phenomenological understanding Southerners often see themselves as far away from where things count as outsiders internalising the wider global sense of their relative insignificance Conversely when northerners read or hear legends narratives songs and poems from the south it is as if they are located in the south at least for the duration of the reading or listening Boehmer suggests that the south tilted world map re centred through song and story invites us to claim a more involved sense of belonging to our planet both its north and its south The writers of the south disrupt conventional ways of seeing and invite us to inhabit our globe differently DK Eyewitness Travel Guide: Argentina Chris Moss, Declan McGarvey, 2010-08-16 Whether you are planning to visit a city a region or a country DK s foolproof Eyewitness approach makes learning about a place a pleasure in itself All the traditional guidebook subject matter is covered descriptions of sights

Antarctic Eyewitness Frank Hurley, Charles Laserson, 2002 This volume offers accounts of two of the 19th century expeditions that took place in the so called heroic era of Antarctic exploration The first is Sir Douglas Mawson's 1911-14 Australasian Antarctic Expedition The other is Ernest Shackleton's unsuccessful attempt to cross the Antarctic continent from 1914-16 and the extraordinary survival of his entire party after the expedition's ship Endurance was crushed and sunk in the pack ice Chronicled in black and white images by the Australian photographer Frank Hurley these two narratives are combined within this double volume There is also an introduction by journalist and historian Tim Bowden Time's Anvil Richard Morris, 2012-11-22 A personal and lyrical rediscovery of the history of England through archaeology and the imagination History thrives on stories TIME'S ANVIL explores archaeology's influence on what such stories say how they are told who tells them and how we listen In a dazzlingly wide ranging exploration Richard Morris casts fresh light on three quarters of a million years of history in the place we now think of as England Drawing upon genres that are usually pursued in isolation like biography poetry or physics he finds potent links between things we might imagine to be unrelated His subjects range from humanity's roots to the destruction of the wildwood from the first farmers to industrialization and from Tudor drama to 20th century conflict Each topic sits at a different point along the continuum between epoch and the fleeting moment In part this is a history of archaeology in part too it is a personal account of the author's history in archaeology But mainly it is about how the past is read and about what we bring to the reading as well as what we find The result is a book that defies categorisation but one which will by turns surprise enthrall and provoke anyone who cares for England who we are and where we have come from TIME'S ANVIL was longlisted for the Samuel Johnson Prize for Non Fiction 2013
