Setswana Paper 1

Jenny Lenkeit, Knut Schwippert

Setswana Paper 1:

Language and Decoloniality in Higher Education Zannie Bock, Christopher Stroud, 2021-05-20 Language and Decoloniality in Higher Education brings together a collection of diverse papers that address from various angles the issue of decoloniality language and transformation in higher education It reflects the authors cumulative years of experience as educators in higher education in different southern contexts Distilled as case studies the authors use a range of decolonial lenses to reflect on questions of knowledge language and learning and to build a reflexive praxis of decoloniality through multilingualism Besides a number of decolonial perspectives which readers will be familiar with this volume also explores a conceptual framework Linguistic Citizenship developed over the past two decades by scholars in southern Africa In this collection Linguistic Citizenship is used as a lens to think beyond the inherited colonial matrices of language which have shaped this region and many other southern contexts for centuries and to re imagine multilingualism and semiotics more broadly as a transformative resource in the broader project of social justice Although each chapter has firm roots in the South African context these studies have much to offer others in their quest for better worlds Of particular interest to global scholars are the authors recounts of how they have grappled with leveraging the country s multilingual resources in the project of promoting academic access and success in the face of historical hierarchies of language and social power

Cross-border Languages Karsten Legère, 1998 New Curriculum History , 2019-02-11 Rereading the historical record indicates that it is no longer so easy to argue that history is simply prior to its forms Since the mid 1990s a new wave of research has formed around wider debates in the humanities and social sciences such as decentering the subject new analytics of power reconsideration of one dimensional time and three dimensional space attention to beyond archival sources alterity Otherness the invisible and more In addition broader and contradictory impulses around the question of the nation transnational post national proto national and neo national movements have unearthed a new series of problematics and focused scholarly attention on traveling discourses national imaginaries and less formal processes of socialization bonding and subjectification New Curriculum History challenges prior occlusions in the field building upon and departing from previous waves of scholarship extending the focus beyond the insularity of public schooling the traditional framework of the self contained nation state and the psychology of the schooled individual Drawing on global studies historical sociology postcolonial studies critical race theory visual culture theory disability studies psychoanalytics Cambridge school structuralisms poststructuralisms and infra and transnational approaches the volume holds together not despite but because of differences and incommensurabilities in rereading historical records Finite-State Methods and Natural Language Processing Anssi Yli-Jyrä, Andras Kornai, Jacques Sakarovitch, Bruce Watson, 2010-07-24 This book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 8th International Workshop on the Finite State Methods and Natural Language Processing FSMNLP 2009 The workshop was held at the University of Pretoria South Africa on July 2009 In total 21 papers were submitted and of those papers 13 were accepted as regular papers and a further 6 as extended abstracts The papers are devoted to computational morphology natural language processing finite state methods automata and related formal language theory

Polysemy in Cognitive Linguistics H. Cuyckens, Britta Zawada, 2001-01-01 In Cognitive Linguistics polysemy is regarded as a categorizing phenomenon i e related meanings of words form categories centering around a prototype and bearing family resemblance relations to one another Under this polysemy categorization view the scope of investigation has been gradually broadened from categories in the lexical and lexico grammatical domain to morphological syntactic and phonological categories The papers in this volume illustrate the importance of polysemy in describing these various categories A first set of papers analyzes the polysemy of such lexical categories as prepositions and scalar particles and looks at the import of polysemy in frame based dictionary definitions A second set shows that noun classes case and locative prefixes constitute meaningful and polysemous categories Three papers then pay attention to polysemy from a psychological perspective looking for psychological evidence of polysemy in lexical categories

Ideophones Erhard Friedrich Karl Voeltz, Christa Kilian-Hatz, 2001-01-01 The present volume represents a selection of papers presented at the International Symposium on Ideophones held in January 1999 in St Augustin Germany They center around the following hypotheses Ideophones are universal and constitute a grammatical category in all languages of the world ideophones and similar words have a special dramaturgic function that differs from all other word classes they simulate an event an emotion a perception through language In addition to this unique function a good number of formal parallels can be observed The languages dealt with here display strikingly similar patterns of derivational processes involving ideophones An equally widespread common feature is the introduction of ideophones via a verbum dicendi or complementizer Another observation concerns the sound symbolic behavior of ideophones Thus the word formation of ideophones differs from other words in their tendency for iconicity and sound symbolism Finally it is made clear that ideophones are part of spoken language the language register where gestures are used rather than written language

Global Perspectives on Youth Language Practices Cynthia Groff, Andrea Hollington, Ellen Hurst-Harosh, Nico Nassenstein, Jacomine Nortier, Helma Pasch, Nurenzia Yannuar, 2022-02-07 Most journal articles edited volumes and monographs on youth language practices deal with one specific variety one geographical setting or with one specific continent This volume bridges these different studies and it approaches youth language from a much broader angle A global framework and a diversity of methodologies enable a wider perspective that gives room to comparisons of youth's manipulations and linguistic agency transnational communicative practices and language contact scenarios The research presented addresses structural features of everyday talk and text youth identity issues related to specific purposes and contexts and sociocultural emphases on ideologies and belonging Combining insights into sociolinguistic and structural features of youth language the volume includes case studies from Asia Indonesia Australia and Oceania Arnhem Land New Ireland South America the Amazon Chile Argentina Europe Germany Spain and Africa Uganda Nigeria DR Congo Central African Republic South Africa It expands on existing publications and offers a more comparative and global approach without a division of youth's strategies in terms of geographical space or language family This collection including a conceptual introduction is of interest to scholars from several linguistic subfields working in different regional contexts as well as sociologists and anthropologists working in the field of adolescence and youth studies

Literacy Instruction in an Examination-oriented Environment Annah Anikie Molosiwa, 2007 Research Outputs of the University of Botswana, 1995-2001 University of Botswana, 2003 Gender and Language in Sub-Saharan Africa Lilian Lem Atanga, Sibonile Edith Ellece, Lia Litosseliti, Jane Sunderland, 2013

Gender and Language in Sub-Saharan Africa Tradition Struggle and Change is the first book to bring together the topics of language and gender African languages and gender in African contexts and it does so in a descriptive explanatory and critical way Including fascinating new work and new often challenging data from Botswana Chad Ghana Kenya Nigeria and South Africa this collection looks at some traditional uses of language in relation to the gender of its speakers and the gendered nature of the languages themselves it also identifies and explores social change in terms of both gender and sexuality as reflected in and constructed by language and discourse The contributions to this volume are accessibly written and will be of interest to students and established academics working on African sociolinguistics and discourse as well as those whose interest is language gender and sexuality

Language Science and Language technology in Africa Steve Ndinga-Koumba-Binza, Sonja E Bosch, 2012-10-01

This book provides a broad overview of current work on South African languages language resources and language technologies While it provides a fairly comprehensive overview it also ties together the most recent knowledge state here and is therefore truly innovative The book is therefore informed by current international trends in the respective fields of science and feeds back into them There is absolutely no doubt that the book has an academic peer audience and is directed at specialists in the field Prof Axel Fleisch University of Helsinki Finland

Assessment of Reading in International Studies Jenny Lenkeit, Knut Schwippert, 2020-05-21 This book brings together contributions from different scholarly contexts that address a diverse range of focused topics as well as empirical and conceptual perspectives on research with international studies Some chapters focus on technical aspects exploring opportunities for drawing causal inferences from the data and investigating biases originating in distributional scale properties Others are of a more conceptual nature addressing changes in the relevance of socio economic indicators across time and countries examining the exposure of mother tongue and English instruction on performance and investigating the effects of test construction on gender difference The discussion takes a much needed meta perspective on the usefulness of international large scale assessments for educational research and allows reflection upon possibilities and opportunities for their improvement This book was originally published as a special issue of Assessment in Education

Language Planning and Policy in Africa Richard B. Baldauf, Robert B. Kaplan, 2004 A longer range purpose is to collect comparable information on as many polities as possible in order to facilitate the development of a richer theory to guide language policy and planning in other polities that undertake the development of a national policy on languages This volume is part of an areal series which is committed to providing descriptions of language planning and policy in countries around the world
