

The background of the book cover is a photograph of a mountain landscape. In the foreground, a river flows over dark, jagged rocks. The middle ground shows a dense forest of evergreen trees. In the upper right, a small wooden cabin with a glowing yellow light inside is visible, partially obscured by the trees. The sky is a mix of blue and white, suggesting a cloudy day.

London and the Culture of Homosexuality, 1885-1914 Matt Cook, 2003 London and the Culture of Homosexuality explores the relationship between London and male homosexuality from the criminalisation of all acts of gross indecency between men in 1885 to the outbreak of the First World War in 1914, years marked by an intensification in concern about male-male relationships and also by the emergence of an embryonic homosexual rights movement. Taking his cue from literary and lesbian and gay scholars, urban historians and cultural geographers, Matt Cook combines discussion of London's homosexual subculture and various major and minor scandals with a detailed examination of representations in the press, in science and in literature. The conjunction of approaches used in this study provides fresh insights into the development of ideas about the modern homosexual and into the many different ways of comprehending and taking part in London's culture of homosexuality.

Argentina Noir Cynthia Schmidt-Cruz, 2019-02-14 Argentina Noir offers a guide to Argentine crime fiction with a focus on works published since the year 2000. It argues that the novela negra or crime novel has become the favored genre for many writers to address the social malaise brought about by changes linked to globalization and market-driven economic policies. Cynthia Schmidt-Cruz presents close readings and original interpretations of eleven novels all set in or around Buenos Aires and explores the ways these texts adapt major motifs, figures and literary techniques in Hispanic crime fiction in order to give voice to wide-ranging social critiques. Schmidt-Cruz addresses such topics as organized crime and institutional complicity, corruption during the presidency of Carlos Menem (1989-1999), terrorist attacks on Jewish institutions in Buenos Aires and the mysterious death of Alberto Nisman, and the winners and the losers of neoliberal structural changes. With a solid underpinning in sociological studies and criticism of the genre and its historical context, Argentina Noir reveals how these novels are renovating the genre to engage pressing issues confronting not only Argentina but also countries throughout Latin America and around the globe.

Fictions of Loss in the Victorian Fin de Siècle Stephen Arata, 1996-08-29 It has been widely recognised that British culture in the 1880s and 1890s was marked by a sense of irretrievable decline. Fictions of Loss in the Victorian Fin de Siècle explores the ways in which that perception of loss was cast into narrative into archetypal stories which sought to account for the culture's troubles and perhaps assuage its anxieties. Stephen Arata pays close attention to fin de siècle representation of three forms of decline: national, biological and aesthetic, and reveals how late Victorian degeneration theory was used to explain such decline. By examining a wide range of writers from Kipling to Wilde, from Symonds to Conan Doyle and Stoker, Arata shows how the nation's twin obsessions with decadence and imperialism became intertwined in the thought of the period. His account offers new insights for students and scholars of the fin de siècle.

Arab Women Novelists Joseph T. Zeidan, 1995-03-16 This book assesses the contribution of women to the Arabic novel both in subject matter and form It begins by tracing the struggle over women's rights in the Arab world particularly the gradual improvement in women's access to education the first area in which women made significant gains Subsequent chapters discuss Arab women writers remarkable talents and determination to overcome the barriers of a male dominated culture survey the 1950s and 1960s during which women's writing gained momentum and more women writers emerged and address the shift in emphasis and attitude that women's literature underwent in the late 1960s especially following the 1967 Arab Israeli war when women novelists began to place more stress on international politics Zeidan adapts Western based feminist literary theory to a discussion of Arab women's literature but refrains from imposing that theory inappropriately on literature whose context differs significantly He compares the women's movements in Arab and Western cultures and the development of women's literature in those cultures and uses these comparisons to highlight similarities and differences between them as well as to consider how one affected the other His analysis culminates in the early 1980s the end of the formative years when women's writing had become a familiar part of Arabic literature in general and a positive reflection on the collective Arab consciousness
