Schiemann, Erhard Scholz, 2017-01-05 This contributed volume is the result of a July 2010 workshop at the University of Wuppertal Interdisciplinary Centre for Science and Technology Studies which brought together world wide experts from physics philosophy and history in order to address a set of questions first posed in the 1950s How do we compare spacetime theories How do we judge objectively which is the best theory Is there even a unique answer to this question The goal of the workshop and of this book is to contribute to the development of a meta theory of spacetime theories Such a meta theory would reveal insights about specific spacetime theories by distilling their essential similarities and differences deliver a framework for a class of theories that could be helpful as a blueprint to build other meta theories and provide a higher level viewpoint for judging which theory most accurately describes nature But rather than drawing a map in broad strokes the focus is on particularly rich regions in the space of spacetime theories This work will be of interest to physicists as well as philosophers and historians of science working with or interested in General Relativity and or Space Time and Gravitation more generally From Physics to Econophysics and Back: Methods and Insights Siew Ann Cheong, Takayuki

The Source of All Things Reinhard Friedl, 2025-08-22 In the tradition of Henry Marsh s Do No Harm Reinhard Friedl s The Source of All Things is a heart surgeon s personal investigation of the human heart moving from his riveting clinical experiences to a more poetic understanding of its workings The heart is our most important organ Yet despite that it has not changed since the appearance of Homo sapiens 300 000 years ago it is also our most mysterious In most human cultures it is seen as the source of love sympathy joy courage strength and wisdom What if the heart could answer questions neurosciences can't begin to Having witnessed the extraordinary complexity and unpredictability of human hearts in the operating theatre each one individual like a fingerprint heart surgeon Reinhard Friedl looked again at this primitive pump to reconcile it with his experiences from thousands of heart operations In this book he presents findings from various scientific disciplines such as secret connections of the heart and brain and their influence on emotions and consciousness He reveals the miracle that is the heart that we speak about so often yet is strangely foreign to many human beings Full of compelling patient stories The Source of All Things ends with a plea that we recognize the heart's wisdom and adopt a more heart centered way of living leading to greater health and more joy
