

A close-up photograph of a large pile of golden-brown, fried potato pieces, likely Irish potatoes, scattered on a white surface. The potatoes are irregular in shape and have a crispy, textured appearance. Overlaid on the center of the image is the text "DIP FRIED IRISH POTATOES" in a bold, white, sans-serif font. To the right of the word "POTATOES" are three identical yellow emoji faces with closed eyes and a small red tongue sticking out, arranged horizontally.

McLean, 2006-08-30 This cookbook covers the years 1840 through 1945 a time during which American cookery underwent a full scale revolution Gas and electric stoves replaced hearth cookery Milk products came from commercial dairy farms rather than the family cow

Daily meals were no longer bound by seasons and regions as canned bottled and eventually frozen products flooded the market and trains began to transport produce and meat from one end of the country to the other During two World Wars and the Great Depression women entered the work force in unprecedented numbers and household servants abandoned low paying domestic jobs to work in factories As a result of these monumental changes American home cooking became irrevocably simplified and cookery skills geared more toward juggling time to comb grocery store shelves for the best and most economical products than toward butchering and preserving an entire animal carcass or pickling fruits and vegetables This cookbook reflects these changes with each of the three chapters capturing the home cooking that typified the era The first chapter covers the pre industrial period 1840 to 1875 during this time home cooks knew how to broil roast grill fry and boil on an open hearth flame and its embers without getting severely injured They also handled whole sheep carcasses made gelatin from boiled pigs trotters grew their own yeast and prepared their own preserves The second chapter covers 1876 through 1910 a time when rapid urbanization transformed the United States from an agrarian society into an industrial giant giving rise to food corporations such as Armour Swift Campbell s Heinz and Pillsbury The mass production and mass marketing of commercial foods began to transform home cooking meat could be purchased from a local butcher or grocery store and commercial gelatin became widely available While many cooks still made their own pickles and preserves commercial varieties multiplied From 1910 to 1945 the period covered by Chapter 3 the home cook became a full fledged consumer and the national food supply became standardized to a large extent As the industrialization of the American food supply progressed commercially produced breads pastries sauces pickles and preserves began to take over kitchen cupboards and undermine the home cooks ability to produce their own meals from scratch The recipes have been culled from some of the most popular commercial and community cookbooks of the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Taken together the more than 300 recipes reflect the major cookbook trends of the era Suggested menus are provided for replicating entire meals

Kenya Food Composition Tables KFCT and so nutrient calculations for mixed recipes featured were drawn from the revised Kenya Food Composition Tables KFCT 2018 This first version of recipes book covers a total of 142 mixed recipes The main components of the book include for each recipe a list of ingredients with household measures the preparation and cooking method cooking time nutrient profile per 100g of recipe servings and a photograph of the final dish In addition individual recipes have been grouped into broader categories for ease of reference Recipes that are common among urban dwellers have also been captured Recipes that apply to infants particularly have been indicated in the recipe introductions Of note about infant recipes is that the information received during focus group discussions revealed that most of the recipes consumed by the entire family are also eaten by infants above 6 months and children A full nutrient profile nutrient calculations yield factors and retention values are provided per recipe Of note the recipes in this book were developed to serve a minimum of four people There is still room for continued review and inclusion of more recipes that will provide a wide representation of the Kenyan Cuisine give correct information on the population diet holistically tackle malnutrition inform current programming and influence policies and consequently address chronic and acute malnutrition in the country in a more sustainable way

Civil War Recipes Lily May Spaulding, John Spaulding, 2014-04-23 Godey's Lady's Book perhaps the most popular magazine for women in nineteenth century America had a national circulation of 150 000 during the 1860s The recipes spelled receipts it published were often submitted by women from both the North and the South and they reveal the wide variety of regional cooking that characterized American culture There is a remarkable diversity in the recipes thanks to the largely rural readership of Godey's Lady's Book and to the immigrant influence on the country in the 1860s Fish and game were readily available in rural America and the number of seafood recipes testifies to the abundance of the coastal waters and rivers The country cook was a frugal cook particularly during wartime so there are a great many recipes for leftovers and seasonal produce In addition to a wide sampling of recipes that can be used today Civil War Recipes includes information on Union and Confederate army rations cooking on both homefronts and substitutions used during the war by southern cooks
