Adler, 2005-12-21 Increasingly teachers all over the world are grappling on a daily basis with the fact of multilingual classrooms In this book Jill Adler captures three inter related dilemmas that lie at the heart of teaching mathematics in multilingual classrooms Adler s identification and naming of the dilemma of code switching the dilemma of mediation and the dilemma of transparency arise from exploring the realities of actual classrooms and are shaped by a perspective of teaching as a social practice Adler provides a sharp analysis and strong theoretical grounding for her work pulling together research related to the relationship between language and mathematics communicating mathematics and mathematics in bi multilingual settings In so doing she offers a direct challenge to dominant research on communication in mathematics classrooms that has othered the multilingual setting in its normalisation of the monolingual classroom The norm is a multicultural one Set in contemporary South Africa a context of linguistic diversity and rapid change this book offers a spotlight whose beam is wide enough to illuminate dilemmas at work in all mathematics classrooms

Teaching Mathematical Reasoning in Secondary School Classrooms Karin Brodie, 2009-10-08 For too many students mathematics consists of facts in a vacuum to be memorized because the instructor says so and to be forgotten when the course of study is completed In this all too common scenario young learners often miss the chance to develop skills specifically reasoning skills that can serve them for a lifetime The elegant pages of Teaching Mathematical Reasoning in Secondary School Classrooms propose a more positive solution by presenting a reasoning and discussion based approach to teaching mathematics emphasizing the connections between ideas or why math works The teachers whose work forms the basis of the book create a powerful record of methods interactions and decisions including dealing with challenges and impasses involving this elusive topic And because this approach shifts the locus of authority from the instructor to mathematics itself students gain a system of knowledge that they can apply not only to discrete tasks relating to numbers but also to the larger world of people and the humanities A sampling of the topics covered Whole class discussion methods for teaching mathematics reasoning Learning mathematical reasoning through tasks Teaching mathematics using the five strands Classroom strategies for promoting mathematical reasoning Maximizing student contributions in the classroom Overcoming student resistance to mathematical conversations Teaching Mathematical Reasoning in Secondary School Classrooms makes a wealth of cutting edge strategies available to mathematics teachers and teacher educators This book is an invaluable resource for researchers in mathematics and curriculum reform and of great interest to teacher educators and teachers

Classroom Encounters Rinelle Evans,Ailie Cleghorn,2012-12-30 This scholarly work appears at a crucial moment in South Africa With the country now democratically independent for close to 20 years the authors provide a comprehensive description of schooling and overall education that allows the reader to see if or how the wide social development gaps that existed during the apartheid period are changing This book is a rare academic contribution to the current linguistic and culturally rich classroom that teachers now work in daily The authors report that some teachers are flummoxed by what they find newly trained teachers seem better prepared while others bring old but good teaching habits into the classroom Overall this book rooted as it is in meticulous long term ethnographic classroom observations and multiple teacher interviews shows that what is effective for the learning of learners is not by any means detachable from demographic economic or political contexts With that in mind the book s intentions and structure are clear and the initial historical analyses provide insight to the important linguistic social and cultural connections or disconnections present in contemporary South Africa
