Local Economic Development In The Developing World Etienne Louis Nel, Christian Myles Rogerson, Over the last two decades the concept and practice of Local Economic Development LED has gained widespread acceptance around the world as a locally based response to the challenges posed by globalization devolution local level opportunities and economic crises Support for local economic development is now firmly on the agenda of many national governments and key international agencies This volume examines the debates about Local Economic Development and examines some of the unfolding experiences of LED in the developing world The focus is upon the region of southern Africa and more especially upon post apartheid South Africa LED emerged in South Africa as one of the more significant post apartheid development options being pursued by empowered localities with the overt encouragement of national government Elsewhere in the developing world much interest surrounds the experience of LED in post apartheid South Africa which is seen as a laboratory for experimentation innovation and learning The seventeen chapters in this book examine the range of LED interventions that have been the basis for experimentation in the last decade including both pro market as well as pro poor interventions Key themes include debates about the most appropriate policy directions for LED its contribution towards sustainable development the role of social capital cluster support public procurement eco development good governance and tourism led LED The book also contains a series of detailed case studies on the implementation of LED in South Africa and the wider region of southern Africa including analyses of LED undertaken at a variety of scales from the provincial metropolitan and small town level Until now most research on local economic development has focused on the developed world This volume breaks new ground in applying LED policy and practices to problems specific to the developing world It will be of interest to scholars of development studies urban and regional planning human geography and urban studies This compelling and comprehensive book provides a look at the innovative including pro poor local economic development strategies being used in South Africa The contributors to Local Economic Development in the Changing World The Experience of Southern Africa are among the very best scholars in the field Gary Gaile University of Colorado Etienne Nel and Christian Rogerson have produced an excellent book on local economic development in South Africa The chapters in this timely volume contain many valuable lessons for both the developing and the developed world Of particular importance is the policy focus of Nel and Rogerson on investing in and empowering low income workers entrepreneurs families and neighborhoods Because of the special emphasis on inclusive economic development strategies this book is a very useful guide to what the Prague Institute calls Treating People and Communities as Assets Dr Marc A Weiss Chairman and CEO Prague Institute for Global Urban Development Etienne Nel is associate professor in the Department of Geography of Rhodes

University Grahamstown South Africa Christian M Rogerson is professor of human geography School of Geography Archaeology and Environmental Studies University of Witwatersrand Johannesburg Agricultural Journal of the Cape of Good Hope Cape of Good Hope (Colony). Department of Agriculture,1906 The Companion Guide to South Africa Eve Palmer,Geoffrey Jenkins,1978 Imperial Wine Jennifer Regan-Lefebvre,2024-04-23 A fascinating and approachable deep dive into the colonial roots of the global wine industry Imperial Wine is a bold rigorous history of Britain s surprising role in creating the wine industries of Australia South Africa and New Zealand Here historian Jennifer Regan Lefebvre bridges the genres of global commodity history and imperial history presenting provocative new research in an accessible narrative This is the first book to argue that today s global wine industry exists as a result of settler colonialism and that imperialism was central not incidental to viticulture in the British colonies Wineries were established almost immediately after the colonization of South Africa Australia and New Zealand as part of a civilizing mission tidy vines heavy with fruit were symbolic of Britain s subordination of foreign lands Economically and culturally nineteenth century settler winemakers saw the British market as paramount However British drinkers were apathetic towards what they pejoratively called colonial wine The tables only began to turn after the First World War when colonial wines were marketed as cheap and patriotic and started to find their niche among middle and working class British drinkers This trend combined with social and cultural shifts after the Second World War laid the foundation for the New World revolution in the 1980s making Britain into a confirmed country of wine drinkers and a massive market for New World wines These New World producers may have only received critical acclaim in the late twentieth century but Imperial Wine shows that they had spent centuries wooing and indeed manufacturing a British market for inexpensive colonial wines This book is sure to satisfy any curious reader who savors the complex stories behind this commodity chain
