interest Analyses of suspended and sedimentary marine particulate materials present their own distinct challenges primarily due to potential interference by predominant mineral phases of different types Of all the analytical methods applied to marine waters and particles at present only a small fraction can be systematically evaluated via comparison to reference materials that represent the appropriate natural concentrations and matrices Specifically the committee was charged with the following tasks compile from available sources a list of important oceanographic research questions that may benefit from chemical reference standards create a comprehensive list of reference materials currently available for oceanographic studies identify and prioritize the reference materials needed to study the identified research questions determine for each priority analyte whether reference materials and or analytic methods should be standardized and identify the most appropriate approaches for the development and future production of reference materials for ocean sciences N.O.A.A.

Five Year Report 1964-1969 United States-Japan Cooperative Program in Natural Resources,1970 Application of Analytical Chemistry to Foods and Food Technology Daniele Naviglio,Monica Gallo,2021-02-22 The application of analytical chemistry to the food sector allows the determination of the chemical composition of foods and the properties of their constituents contributing to the definition of their nutritional and commodity value Furthermore it is possible to study the chemical modifications that food constituents undergo as a result of the treatments they undergo food technology Food analysis therefore allows us not only to determine the quality of a product or its nutritional value but also to reveal adulterations and identify the presence of xenobiotic substances potentially harmful to human health Furthermore some foods especially those of plant origin contain numerous substances with beneficial effects on health While these functional compounds can be obtained from a correct diet they can also be extracted from food matrices for the formulation of nutraceutical products or added to foods by technological or biotechnological means for the production of functional foods On the other hand the enormous growth of the food industry over the last 50 years has broadened the field of application of analytical chemistry to encompass not only food but also food technology which is fundamental for increasing the production of all types of food Five-year Report of the U.S. - Japan Cooperative Program in Natural Resources, 1964-1969 United States.
