Stoknes,2015 Today about 98 percent of scientists affirm that climate change is human made and about 2 percent still question it Despite that overwhelming majority though about half the population of rich countries like ours choose to believe the 2 percent And paradoxically this large camp of deniers grows even larger as more and more alarming proof of climate change has cropped up over the last decades This disconnect has both climate scientists and activists scratching their heads growing anxious and responding usually by repeating more facts to win the argument But the more climate facts pile up the greater the resistance to them grows and the harder it becomes to enact measures to reduce greenhouse gas emissions and prepare communities for the inevitable change ahead Is humanity up to the task It is a catch 22 that starts says psychologist and climate expert Per Espen Stoknes from an inadequate understanding of the way most humans think act and live in the world around them With dozens of examples he shows how to retell the story of climate change and apply communication strategies more fit for the task Publisher s description The Impact of Climate Change Mitigation on Indigenous and Forest Communities Maureen F. Tehan, Lee C. Godden, Margaret A. Young, Kirsty A. Gover, 2017-10-26 The international legal framework for valuing the carbon stored in forests known as Reducing Emissions from Deforestation and Forest Degradation REDD will have a major impact on indigenous peoples and forest communities The REDD regime contains many assumptions about the identity tenure and rights of indigenous and local communities who inhabit use or claim rights to forested lands The authors bring together expert analysis of public international law climate change treaties property law human rights and indigenous customary land tenure to provide a systemic account of the laws governing forest carbon sequestration and their interaction Their work covers recent developments in climate change law including the Agreement from the Conference of the Parties in Paris that came into force in 2016 The Impact of Climate Change Mitigation on Indigenous and Forest Communities is a rich and much needed new contribution to contemporary understanding of this topic

The Space Law Stalemate Anja Pečujlić, 2023-03-21 The governing international space law regime has been locked in a norm creation stalemate for over 40 years. This stalemate endangers the preservation of established guiding legal principles as well as the sustainability of the parts of outer space that humans utilize. The discrepancy between norm creation, technological advancement, and the ecosystem of novel actors could generate serious consequences for future space activities and the nature of international relations. Besides the return of old rivalries in a New Cold War, new activities and actors emerging amidst a legal void emphasize the risks of the stalemate: unstable peace, fragile cooperation, uneven technological development, and uncertain eco-sustainability. The prolonged legal stalemate cannot be treated simply as an academic question for it has broader political and economic implications of growing strategic relevance. Unresolved issues in international space law could threaten the survival of space as a global common; thus, it is essential that the ability of the norm creation mechanism of UN COPUOS is equipped to address the ongoing changes and provide for adequate global governance. This book evaluates the current legal state and sheds light on potential future prospects, offering an overview of the political context within which it developed, providing an assessment of the selected successful examples in international law, and analyzing lessons learned. It makes recommendations for how the UN COPUOS legal apparatus should be modified in order to ensure that future space activities are possible beyond anarchy, greed, and ecological irresponsibility, and to ensure that the principle of the peaceful uses of outer space remains the governing norm.

The Physics of the Mind Phil Mollon, 2025-10-09 The Physics of the Mind New Perspectives for Psychotherapists Healers and Seekers is aimed at psychotherapists psychoanalysts healers and anyone interested in the interface of physics and the mind Both are interesting topics even more so when combined Phil Mollon's expertise is within psychology and over his long career he came to realise the importance of physics to the field In particular the branches that place mind and consciousness in the foreground of how we might understand the universe and our place within it There is a deep organising principle operating at all levels of the universe It gives rise to life and is apparent within the human mind in dreams and creativity A key lesson from quantum physics is that consciousness and the human mind are inextricably involved in the emergence of what we can observe and experience of our matter based realm In other words the behaviour of the quantum realm is shaped by our observation of it Just as we think of space time as shaped by gravitational forces and massive bodies so we can conceptualise mind space The latter contains mathematical correlations of thought emotion and memory whereby what is similar attracts more of the same in a manner analogous to gravity These have effects within the mind and in the wider life field For example severe and repeated childhood trauma creates the equivalent of black holes in the mind space Metaphysics posits that our matter based universe is subtended within an infinite unified field of intelligence and creativity We are contained within a vast mind The principle is that unlimited guidance and knowledge is available via meditation and intuition requiring only that we seek It is never thrust upon us This is a book filled with extraordinary ideas to dip into wherever curiosity and intuition lead It is the author's fervent wish that what is within will stimulate thought and awareness and spark continuing creative concepts concerning our place in this cosmos
