Traveling with Sugar Amy Moran-Thomas, 2019-11-26 Traveling with Sugar reframes the rising diabetes epidemic as part of a five hundred year old global history of sweetness and power Amid eerie injuries changing bodies amputated limbs and untimely deaths many people across the Caribbean and Central America simply call the affliction sugar or as some say in Belize traveling with sugar A decade in the making this book unfolds as a series of crónicas a word meaning both slow moving story and slow moving disease It profiles the careful work of those still fighting it as they grapple with unequal material infrastructures and unsettling dilemmas Facing a new incarnation of blood sugar these individuals speak back to science and policy misrecognitions that have prematurely cast their lost limbs and deaths as normal Their families arts of maintenance and repair illuminate ongoing struggles to survive and remake larger systems of food land technology and medicine

Virtue and the Moral Life William Werpehowski, Kathryn Getek Soltis, 2014-07-22 The scope of interest and reflection on virtue and the virtues is as wide and deep as the questions we can ask about what makes a moral agent's life decent or noble or holy rather than cruel or base or sinful or about the conditions of human character and circumstance that make for good relations between family members friends workers fellow citizens and strangers and the sorts of conditions that do not Clearly these questions will inevitably be directed to more finely grained features of everyday life in particular contexts Virtue and the Moral Life Theological and Philosophical Perspectives takes up these questions In its ten timely and original chapters it considers the specific importance of virtue ethics its public significance for shaping a society's common good the value of civic integrity warfare and returning soldiers sense of enlarged moral responsibility the care for and agency of children in contemporary secular consumer society and other questions involving moral failure humility and forgiveness

The Hamlet Fire Bryant Simon, 2020-07-23 For decades the small quiet town of Hamlet North Carolina thrived thanks to the railroad But by the 1970s it had become a postindustrial backwater a magnet for businesses in search of cheap labor and almost no oversight Imperial Food Products was one of those businesses The company set up shop in Hamlet in the 1980s Workers who complained about low pay and hazardous working conditions at the plant were silenced or fired But jobs were scarce in town so workers kept coming back and the company continued to operate with impunity Then on the morning of September 3 1991 the never inspected chicken processing plant a stone's throw from Hamlet's city hall burst into flames Twenty five people perished that day behind the plant's locked and bolted doors It remains one of the deadliest accidents ever in the history of the modern American food industry Eighty years after the Triangle Shirtwaist Fire industrial disasters were supposed to have been a thing of the past in the United States However as award winning historian Bryant Simon shows the pursuit of cheap food merged with economic decline in small towns across the South and the nation to devalue laborers and create perilous working conditions The Hamlet fire and its aftermath reveal the social costs of antiunionism lax regulations and ongoing racial discrimination Using oral histories contemporary news coverage and state records Simon has constructed a vivid potent and disturbing social autopsy of this town this factory and this time that exposes how cheap labor cheap government and cheap food came together in a way that was destined to result in tragedy

Diet for a Large Planet Chris Otter, 2020-10-12 A history of the unsustainable modern diet heavy in meat wheat and sugar that requires more land and resources than the planet is able to support We are facing a world food crisis of unparalleled proportions Our reliance on unsustainable dietary choices and agricultural systems is causing problems both for human health and the health of our planet Solutions from lab grown food to vegan diets to strictly local food consumption are often discussed but a central question remains how did we get to this point In Diet for a Large Planet Chris Otter goes back to the late eighteenth century in Britain where the diet heavy in meat wheat and sugar was developing As Britain underwent steady growth urbanization industrialization and economic expansion the nation altered its food choices shifting away from locally produced plant based nutrition This new diet rich in animal proteins and refined carbohydrates made people taller and stronger but it led to new types of health problems Its production also relied on far greater acreage than Britain itself forcing the nation to become more dependent on global resources Otter shows how this issue expands beyond Britain looking at the global effects of large agro food systems that require more resources than our planet can sustain This comprehensive history helps us understand how the British played a significant role in making red meat white bread and sugar the diet of choice linked to wealth luxury and power and shows how dietary choices connect to the pressing issues of climate change and food supply

The Necessity of Strangers Alan Gregerman, 2013-08-22 A counterintuitive approach to fostering greater innovation collaboration and engagement Most of us assume our success relies on a network of friends and close contacts But innovative thinking requires a steady stream of fresh ideas and new possibilities which strangers are more likely to introduce Our survival instincts naturally cause us to look upon strangers with suspicion and distrust but in The Necessity of Strangers Alan Gregerman offers the provocative idea that engaging with strangers is an opportunity not a threat and that engaging with the right strangers is essential to unlocking our real potential The Necessity of Strangers reveals how strangers challenge us to think differently about ourselves and the problems we face Shows how strangers can help us innovate better get the most out of each other and achieve genuine collaboration Presents principles for developing a stranger centric mindset to develop new markets and stronger customer relationships leverage the full potential of partnerships and become more effective leaders Includes practical guidance and a toolkit for being more open creating new ideas that matter finding the right strangers in all walks of life and tapping the real brilliance in yourself To stay competitive you and your business need access to more new ideas insights and perspectives than ever before The Necessity of Strangers offers an essential guide to discovering the most exciting opportunities you haven't met yet

Tasting Cultures: Thoughts for Food Maria José Pires, 2019-01-04 This volume was first published by Interdisciplinary Press in 2015 A myriad of fresh possibilities is offered when researching in food studies Just like any other area of knowledge researchers here breathe the present because they have already absorbed the past and can easily try to devise the future As the question of authenticity and adaptability rises urgently we gain knowledge of the specificities where cultural heritage faces assimilation from other lifestyles in an effort to save and reshape the community and its cultural identity Food researchers have also struggled with the constructions and measuring of tastes within diverse communities by comparison to other references even though it has become harder to discern matters from expert advice and controlled mediation Therefore we invariably come across the power of representations in deep association with culture and the society that produces them for there are increasingly complex food systems bearing diverse layers of meaning

Food Intelligence Julia Belluz, Kevin Hall, PhD, 2025-09-23 The essential guide for understanding what you're eating and the forces that are driving you to eat it Nutrition isn't rocket science it's harder There are new diet fads bold claims about superfoods and articles promising the secrets to lasting weight loss and longevity The more expert advice we hear about diet the less clarity we have about what to eat In Food Intelligence award winning health journalist Julia Belluz and internationally renowned nutrition and metabolism scientist Kevin Hall cut through the myths about nutrition to deliver a comprehensive book on food diet metabolism and healthy eating Breaking food down into its constituent parts they reveal the science behind how protein fat carbs and vitamins impact our bodies They shine a light on the wonders of metabolism and debunk the latest theories about blood sugar trackers and ultra processed foods They reveal the ways that the world around us our food environment shapes our eating behaviors and the food choices we make every day Diseases like obesity and type 2 diabetes are not a result of a failure of will power they are consequences of food systems working as designed Humane and deeply reported this journey into the science of what we eat will equip you with the food intelligence you need to better understand what's on your dinner plate how it got there and why you eat it

The Age of Addiction David T. Courtwright, 2019-05-06 A mind blowing tour de force that unwraps the myriad objects of addiction that surround us Intelligent incisive and sometimes grimly entertaining Rod Phillips author of Alcohol A History A fascinating history of corporate America's efforts to shape our habits and desires Vox We live in an age of addiction from compulsive gaming and shopping to binge eating and opioid abuse Sugar can be as habit forming as cocaine researchers tell us and social media apps are deliberately hooking our kids But what can we do to resist temptations that insidiously rewire our brains A renowned expert on addiction David Courtwright reveals how global enterprises have both created and catered to our addictions The Age of Addiction chronicles the triumph of what he calls limbic capitalism the growing network of competitive businesses targeting the brain pathways responsible for feeling motivation and long term memory Compulsively readable In crisp and playful prose and with plenty of needed humor Courtwright has written a fascinating history of what we like and why we like it from the first taste of beer in the ancient Middle East to opioids in West Virginia American Conservative A sweeping ambitious account of the evolution of addiction This bold thought provoking synthesis will appeal to fans of big history in the tradition of Guns Germs and Steel Publishers Weekly
