Research Handbook on Intellectual Property and the Life Sciences Duncan Matthews, Herbert Zech, 2017-06-30 Intellectual property IP is a key component of the life sciences one of the most dynamic and innovative fields of technology today At the same time the relationship between IP and the life sciences raises new public policy dilemmas The Research Handbook on Intellectual Property and the Life Sciences comprises contributions by leading experts from academia and industry to provide in depth analyses of key topics including pharmaceuticals diagnostics and genes plant innovations stem cells the role of competition law and access to medicines The Research Handbook focuses on the relationship between IP and the life sciences in Europe and the United States complemented by country specific case studies on Australia Brazil China India Japan Kenya South Africa and Thailand to provide a truly international perspective Technological Innovation in Legacy Sectors William B. Bonvillian, Charles Weiss, 2015-08-18 The American economy faces two deep problems expanding innovation and raising the rate of quality job creation Both have roots in a neglected problem the resistance of Legacy economic sectors to innovation While the U S has focused its policies on breakthrough innovations to create new economic frontiers like information technology and biotechnology most of its economy is locked into Legacy sectors defended by technological economic political social paradigms that block competition from disruptive innovations that could challenge their models Americans like to build technology covered wagons and take them out west to open new innovation frontiers we don't head our wagons back east to bring innovation to our Legacy sectors By failing to do so the economy misses a major opportunity for innovation which is the bedrock of U S competitiveness and its standard of living Technological Innovation in Legacy Sectors uses a new unifying conceptual framework to identify the shared features underlying structural obstacles to innovation in major Legacy sectors energy air and auto transport the electric power grid buildings manufacturing agriculture health care delivery and higher education and develops approaches to understand and transform them It finds both strengths and obstacles to innovation in the national innovation environments a new concept that combines the innovation system and the broader innovation context for a group of Asian and European economies Manufacturing is a major Legacy sector that presents a particular challenge because it is a critical stage in the innovation process By increasingly offshoring production the U S is losing important parts of its innovation capacity Innovate here produce here where the U S took all the gains of its strong innovation system at every stage is being replaced by innovate here produce there which threatens to lead to produce there innovate there To bring innovation to Legacy sectors authors William Bonvillian and Charles Weiss recommend that policymakers focus on all stages of innovation from research through implementation They should fill institutional gaps in the innovation system and take measures to address structural obstacles to needed disruptive innovations In the specific case of advanced manufacturing the production ecosystem can be recreated to reverse jobless innovation and add manufacturing led innovation to the U S's still strong research oriented innovation system Behavioral Science & Policy: Volume 2, Issue

1 Craig Fox, Sim B. Sitkin, 2016-11-22 The success of nearly all public and private sector policies hinges on the behavior of individuals, groups, and organizations. Today such behaviors are better understood than ever thanks to a growing body of practical behavioral science research. However, policymakers often are unaware of behavioral science findings that may help them craft and execute more effective and efficient policies. The pages of this new journal will become a meeting ground, a place where scientists and non-scientists can encounter clearly described behavioral research that can be put into action. By design, the scope of BSP is broad, with topics spanning health care, financial decisionmaking, energy, and the environment, education, and culture, justice, and ethics, and work place practices. Contributions will be made by researchers with expertise in psychology, sociology, law, behavioral economics, organization science, decision science, and marketing. The journal is a key offering of the Behavioral Science Policy Association in partnership with the Brookings Institution. The mission of BSPA is to foster dialog between social scientists, policymakers, and other practitioners in order to promote the application of rigorous empirical behavioral science in ways that serve the public interest. BSPA does not advance a particular agenda or political perspective.

The first issue's contents follow: Behavioral Science Policy, vol 2, no 1. Dual-use life science research and biosecurity in the 21st Century: Social, Technical, Policy, and Ethical Challenges Jonathan E. Suk, Kathleen M. Vogel, Amanda Jane Ozin, 2015-06-04 In September 2011, scientists announced new experimental findings that would not only threaten the conduct and publication of influenza research but would have significant policy and intelligence implications. The findings presented a modified variant of the H5N1 avian influenza virus hereafter referred to as the H5N1 virus that was transmissible via aerosol between ferrets. These results suggested a worrisome possibility: the existence of a new airborne and highly lethal H5N1 virus that could cause a deadly global pandemic. In response, a series of international discussions on the nature of dual use life science arose. These discussions addressed the complex social, technical, political, security, and ethical issues related to dual use research. This Research Topic will be devoted to contributions that explore this matrix of issues from a variety of case study and international perspectives.

system used in the book's case study      Rethinking the Concept of Law of Nature Yemima Ben-Menahem, 2022-06-13 This book subjects the traditional concept of law of nature to critical examination There are two kinds of reasons that invite this reexamination one deriving from philosophical concerns over the traditional concept the other motivated by theoretical and practical changes in science One of the philosophical worries is that the idiom of law of nature especially when combined with the notion of laws governing individual events and processes is no longer as intelligible as it used to be in the theistic context in which the formulation of laws became central to science The traditional concept is also challenged in various ways by contemporary scientific theories such as quantum mechanics chaos theory and the general theory of relativity It is no longer clear that there are any universal laws laws do not always guarantee predictability and the border between physical and mathematical considerations is constantly shifting The most difficult challenge perhaps is to come up with a scientific explanation of the origin of laws Wrestling with these intriguing problems the papers in this volume broaden both our understanding of the natural order and our desiderata of scientific explanation      Science, the State and the City Geoffrey Owen, Michael M. Hopkins, 2016 The book is about the link between science and business how discoveries made in academic laboratories are taken up by venture capitalists and investors and converted into products which if they are successful provide treatments for disease and may generate substantial returns for investors      Advanced Computing and Systems for Security: Volume 14 Rituparna Chaki, Nabendu Chaki, Agostino Cortesi, Khalid Saeed, 2021-09-21 This book features extended versions of selected papers that were presented and discussed at the 8th International Doctoral Symposium on Applied Computation and Security Systems ACSS 2021 held in Kolkata India on April 9-10 2021 Organized by the Departments of Computer Science Engineering and A K Choudhury School of Information Technology at the University of Calcutta the symposium's international partners were Ca Foscari University of Venice Italy and Bialystok University of Technology Poland The topics covered include biometrics image processing pattern recognition algorithms cloud computing wireless sensor networks and security systems reflecting the various symposium sessions      Silicate Building Materials Shao Peng Wu, Mei Zhu Chen, 2014-02-27 SBM 2013 Selected peer reviewed papers from the 2013 Annual Meeting of Chinese Ceramic Society's Building Materials Professional Committees of Stone Aggregate and Utilization of Solid Waste November 28 December 1 2013 Wuhan China      Neuroethics Judy Illes, Sharmin Hossain, 2017 Over the last decade there have been unparalleled advances in our understanding of brain sciences In this volume on neuroethics a distinguished group of contributors from a range of disciplines discuss the ethical implications of this newfound knowledge and set out the many necessary considerations for the future      Anecdotal Evidence Sean Cubitt, 2020-01-10 Ecocritique is a practice of radical questioning as essential to the critical armoury as feminism and postcolonialism have become Like them it extends beyond judgements about texts with clear ecological themes demonstrating the significance of ecocriticism for any advanced understanding of cultural forms Anecdotal method is ecocritical because it focuses on encounters concentrated moments of
