Retirement Done Right Intentional Planning For A Life Well Lived:

Retirement Done Right Dan Michalk, 2014-11-20 Look at any photo of a person from 1950 at age 75 and you'll see how different our expectations are now when we think of our own vitality. People live longer which means retirement lasts longer. People are also healthy longer. That's a good thing. You should have resources to enjoy that for sure. However, if all you're doing is rethinking and bumping up the amount of money you'll need, I'm here to tell you you're looking at this retirement thing all wrong. The money is just the mechanism that allows you to do things with people you enjoy. The relationships you have now and will have then will mean the most. Cliches and common pitfalls many retirees face can be avoided with thoughtful consideration ahead of time. By weaving together powerful examples of people who've successfully navigated the waters to joy-filled retirement and financial planning tips that may make you reconsider the route you're currently taking, Dan Michalk will make you move your thinking from saving for retirement to truly and intentionally planning for this ever-increasing span of life.

Retire Inspired Chris Hogan, 2016-01-12 When you hear the word retirement, you probably don't imagine yourself scrambling to pay your bills in your golden years. But for too many Americans, that's the fate that awaits unless they take steps now to plan for the future. Whether you're twenty-five and starting your first job or fifty-five and watching the career clock start to wind down, today is the day to get serious about your retirement. In Retire Inspired, Chris Hogan teaches that retirement isn't an age; it's a financial number—an amount you need to live the life in retirement that you've always dreamed of. With clear investing concepts and strategies, Chris will educate and empower you to make your own investing decisions, set reasonable expectations for your spouse and family, and build a dream team of experts to get you there. You don't have to retire broke, stressed, and working long after you want to. You can retire inspired. Annual Review of Gerontology and Geriatrics, Volume 26, 2006, 2006-08-25 As the population of retirees between the ages of 65 and 75 continues to grow, professionals, researchers, and educators in all areas of the health care and the business sectors will require more expertise on the latest trends to make better decisions and improve systems. Contributed by nationally recognized experts, The Crown of Life: Dynamics of the Early Post Retirement Period presents some of the most important and current decision-making research describing life between the ages of 65 and 75. Topics cover many aspects and social issues of retirement, including Demographics, Functioning and Well-being, Aging Black Americans, Late Middle Age, The Impact of Work Change and Stability, Health and Religiousness, Social Relations, Leisure Activities, Male Satisfaction, Everyday Life, Gay Lives, Retirement Community Life. For anyone interested in the key issues and current trends of this growing population, editors Jacquelyn Boone James and Paul Wink provide one of the most important and current expert collections dedicated to the Crown of Life period. About the Series: Now celebrating its 26th year, this series of annual reviews, established by Carl Eisdorfer, is designed to encompass the broad spectrum of concerns in aging, including psychology, biology, medicine, sociology, and public policy. The goal is to present reviews of the highest quality and to address those important questions that are
